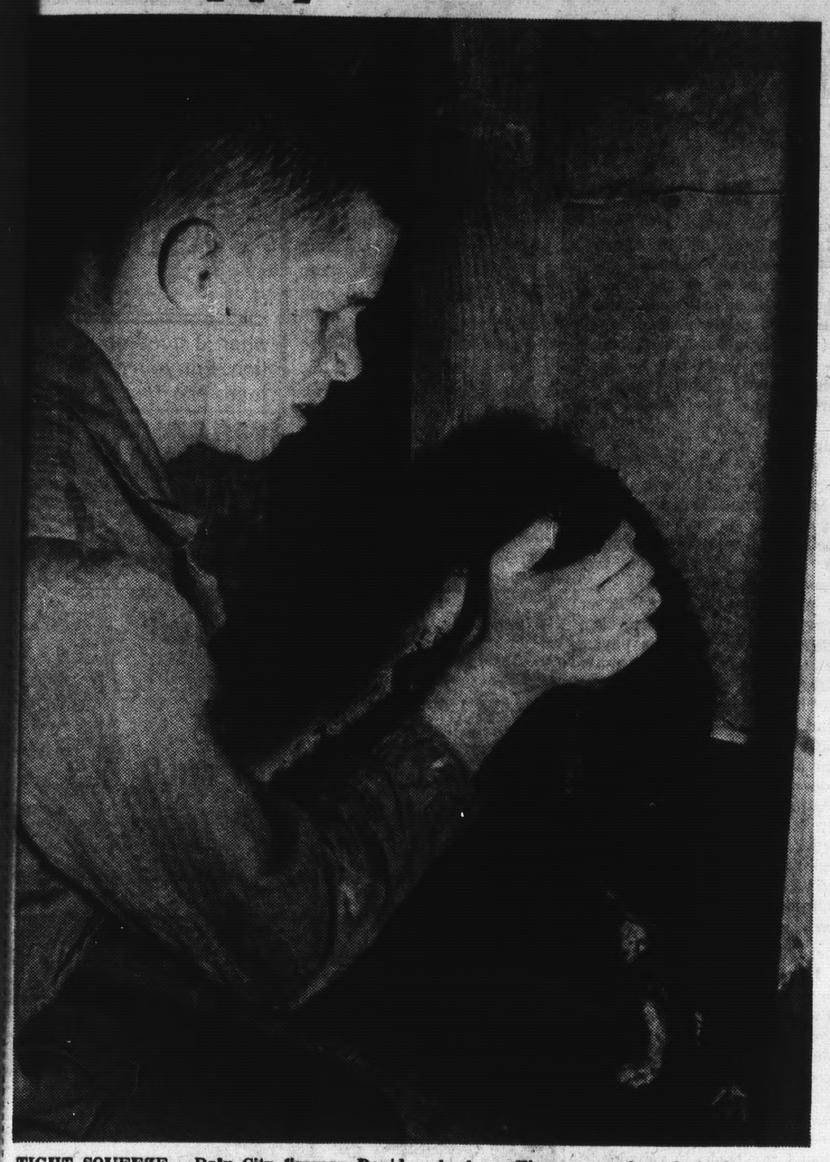
Puppy Predicament



TIGHT SQUEEZE — Daly City fireman David Gash holds a wet but happy "Lady" after she was pulled from between two houses at 185 and 187 Frankfort street. The six-week-old puppy got stuck between the two houses Saturday morning on an exploration trip. It was too tight to turn around and she didn't think to back up. Firemen cut through the house at 185 Frankfort to reach down and a stream of cold water backed the frightened puppy into the hands of Gash. Responding to the call for help by owner Reuben A. Jones were Battalion Chief Mel Hanson, Captain John Roy, and hosemen John Martin and Gash. (Post-Times photo)

Land Trade Moving Again

Cities Near an Agreement

By RON BATES

A CRACK appeared last week in a wall of disagreement between the city councils of Daly City and Pacifica over a proposed land trade.

Negotiations between the cities ended last month in a stalemate with each city refusing to budge from its original position.

Daly City Mayor Joseph Verducci said Friday he has been meeting with Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge in an effort to work out a compromise.

Two considerations have prompted the move, Verducci said: Feyge's leadership and an attempt to co-operate with the Jefferson Elementary School district.

The district plans to open its 20th school, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, next month in the area under discussion by the cities.

Permanent services, such as sewers, lighting, water lines and roads, are being held up pending a decision of the cities.

The school district has instructed the district attorney's office to explore the possibilities of annexing the school site to Daly City.

City officials, however, said no attempt has been made by the school district to discuss the problem with them.

THE LAND trade, which has been discussed sporadically for the past three years, involves property owned by the Henry Doelger corporation on opposing ideas of the Edgemar freeway.

Edward King, vice president of the firm, appeared at the Daly City council's study session last week to discuss the trade with city officials.

"Daly City's position has been changed somewhat," Verducci said. "There are a lot of things for us to consider."

One of the major concerns of the council is an access road to the city dump, he said. Another is the problem of providing immediate services to the school.

"Also, we don't want our boundary cutting through homes and lots." It presents problems in providing police and fire protection."

Verducci praised Feyge for "carrying the ball" in getting negotiations started again.

"It was his logic that has changed some of Daly City's thinking," Verducci said.

FEYGE was ill last month when representatives of both councils met at a dinner meeting in Daly City to make their initial proposals.

Pacifica originally wanted to exchange 66 acres of land between the Pacific Ocean and the freeway, adjacent to Daly City's southern boundary, for 32 acres on the east side of the freeway.

Daly City, however, wanted the 66 acres and 34 additional acres, making the Edgemar freeway a "natural boundary" between the two cities.

"A final solution is in sight," Verducci said.

Christen Developers Move Toward Possible Annexation

Company Expects to Join Daly City, Official Says

Annexation of the sprawling Christen Dairy Ranch lands by Daly City appeared closer this week as two major moves by the land developers were recorded.

Suburban Realty company, owners of the 900 acre parcel of undeveloped land, asked the San Mateo county boundary commission to approve the boundaries of the property, a preliminary move to development of a $150-million community.

At the same time Carl Gellert, president of the Suburban Realty firm, indicated the developers expect to annex to Daly City.

The firm asked the Daly City council for time at the council's August 26 meeting to make a presentation for information purposes to all persons interested in the development of the area.

Purpose of the verification of boundaries by the commission is to make sure the boundaries are correct and do not conflict with the neighboring cities of South San Francisco, Colma, San Bruno, Pacifica and Daly City, William Chapman, Daly City engineer explained.

South San Francisco has indicated a strong desire to annex the area.

County clerk John Bruning, secretary of the commission, said the verification request would be heard at the commission's meeting next Wednesday.

The property is located just south of Daly City and is bounded by Junipero Serra and Skyline boulevards.

It was purchased last November by the developers in one of the largest real estate deals ever recorded in the Bay Area.

D. C. Worth $63 Million

The total assessed valuation of Daly City is slightly over $63 million, according to a report by San Mateo county controller Ira A. Boynton.

The total does not include $2.5 million of unsecured taxes on the county assessment roll.

The report gave the following values under secured taxes: land, $13,766,177; improvements, $46,654,240; personal property, $3,536,075, and exemptions, $4,706,785.

No Clues to Missing Girl

Pacifica police said yesterday morning they had "not a thing to go on" in their four day search for a 15-year-old girl who vanished without a trace from the beach Friday afternoon.

Lenore Hayes disappeared when she and her foster sister, Sue Duin, walked to the beach shortly after noon Friday. Sue walked along the beach in one direction and Lenore in the other, toward Mussel Rock, a half-mile away. She has not been since since.

Pacifica's Budget to Hold Line

By LOIS McNALLY

BUOYED by Pacifica's building boom, city councilmen approved a record $1,329,831 budget last week with no increase in property taxes — now at $1.92 per $100 assessed valuation.

Increase in population, as calculated by a special census, more homes and businesses contributing to the tax roll, and additional gas tax funds voted by the state legislature all helped to raise revenues to meet estimated added expenditures — $174,801 more than last year.

The council shaved one per cent off of the five per cent across-the-board pay boost asked for all city employes. Police and fire department superivsors were cut from 11 per cent to 7.5 per cent in pay increases, and overtime allowances for police and fire were cut back to $2300.

However, all new positions asked for were granted and according to city manager Karl Baldwin, there were no major cuts in department budgets.

Last week's meeting was startling for its brevity, about 45 minutes as opposed to the average four-hour council meetings.

Approximately 30 residents were present but no objections to the budget were raised. Last week's session climaxed weeks of almost nightly study sessions in which councilmen studied the 45-page proposed budget page by

CHAMBER HEARS PROPOSAL

Higher Salary For Councilmen?

A proposal to increase the salaries of Daly City councilmen was introduced at the monthly board of directors' meeting of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce Thursday.

The proposal was taken under study by the board and will be discussed fully at the next meeting wen city officials will be present to answer questions.

The salary raise was introduced by Frank Martorana, former president of the chamber.

"The city fathers spent a lot of time that they're not getting paid for," Martorana said. "They are between two fires — that of making a living and that of tending to city business."

Martorana said the salary increase should be proposed by the chamber of commerce because "city councils generally are not successful in voting raises for themselves."

The San Francisco city fathers get a salary of at least $400, plus fringe benefits, he said.

Daly City council members receive a token salary of $50.

Martorana said the city should also start to consider the hiring of a full-time lobbyist to watch out for the city's interests in Sacramento.

In other business, Chamber President Bernard "Bud" Lycett named three directors to a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the coming year.

Fred Martin will be chairman of the committee. Other members are Ramona Birke and Ted Harris. Two chamber-at-large members will be named later.

Lycett reported that the chamber underwrote part of the expenses incurred by Westmoor high golfer James Fair, who participated in the national junior golf championships in Florence, S.C. last month.

Fair was eliminated in a 22-round marathon match.

Frank Curry, chairman of the chamber's Mary's Help hospital committee, said that progress is being made in a drive to collect $1.5 million.

Mental Health Unit Requested

The Daly City city council continued to "peck away" at the city's juvenile delinquency problem Monday night by strongly urging the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to locate a mental health center in the North county.

"Mental health is just one of the facets of juvenile delinquency," Daly City Mayor Joseph Verducci declared, in introducing a resolution. "It's the job of the city to peck away at the delinquency problem every way it can."

The resolution, passed unanimously by the council, urged the supervisors to locate the facility near Daly City "at its earliest practical date."

Verducci said schools are able to spot youths with mental problems at an early age.

"These are potential delinquents," he said.

The procedure for the school district is to notify the parent that the youth needs help and to recommend treatment at the county hospital.

"In many cases, however, the youth does not get treatment because of the inconvenience of travel," Verducci said. "Having a facility in the area would make it a lot easier."

While on the subject of juvenile delinquency, Verducci praised Councilman Robert St. Clair for his work with the Youth Advisory committee.

The committee, which has been inactive for several months, will be re-instituted under the direction of councilman Francis Pacelli, chairman

Pacelli said the committee will begin meetings as soon as the vacation period is over.

He said he plans to work with school boards in setting up an "out-patient" program for mental health problems.

"This is an important phase of juvenile delinquency and

Procedure on Layoffs Given D.C. Council

The Daly City personnel board last week cleared its agenda of some old business: setting the duties of an assistant fire chief and recommending a solution for the troublesome problem of layoff procedures.

The board's recommendations were sent to the council Monday.

The layoff procedure became controversial last year when maintenance carpenter Reginald Calvert was laid off because the council had eliminated his position in a budget-cutting move.

Under the new proposal, the city manager may lay off any permanent employe because of lack of appropriated funds or curtailment or lack of work.

Layoff would be made on the basis of seniority within the job classification, then in the employe's department and finally within all of the city classified departments of the city.

The city had no provision for the demotion or transfer in cases of layoff prior to the board's recommendation.

The council Monday held the action over for study by the city attorney.

In its other action, the personnel board adopted the final draft of a statement of duties for the assistant fire chief post.

Top Budget Is Approved For Laguna

Laguna Salada school district officials adopted a record $2,928,540 budget last week, representing an increase of $467,307 over last year's spending.

Teachers will receive pay increases of $100 in base pay and a $20 hike in annual increment pay for additional experience or training.

Approval of the budget by trustees had been delayed, pending passage by the state legislature of the additional school aid bill.

Post Office Is Underway

Construction began Monday on Daly City's newest and biggest post office at 1100 Sullivan avenue between 88th and 89th streets.

The building permit for the $240,000 structure was granted by the Daly City Building Inspector's Office last week.

The post office will be constructed on a site containing 67,500 square feet and is expected to be completed in approximately eight months.

Postal authorities said it will have an interior space of 23,670 square feet, with a parking area of 39,160 square feet for parking and movement of postal vehicles.

The concrete building will be built by Virgil Chamberlain construction company of Berkeley.

The Walls Came Tumbling Down

COMING DOWN — Demolition crews last week tackled the last remaining big chunk of Jefferson High school in the school reconstruction program. The chunk was the school auditorium, looking in this photo as if it had been bombed. Other sections of the old school building were torn down earlier in the summer. Work is being done by the Mayco Salvage company. For an advance look at what a portion of the "new" Jefferson will look like, turn to Page 14 of today's special back-to-school section. New School Step Taken

The board of trustees of the Jefferson Elementary school district Monday night moved ahead on plans for a new school to house kindergarten through sixth grades at Market and Moltke streets in Daly City.

Upon the recommendation of district Superintendent Richard L. Foster, the trustees approved an application for apportionment of state funds for the $1,303,800 project.

The state allocations board ultimately must pass on the application.

The school would have 19 classrooms, two kindergarten rooms and a multi-use room. Foster reported that the school could be built in two stages.

Before approving the application, the board voted to accept an offer of $4100 from William and Ricco Lagomarsino for two

Boundary Approval Is Sought

The purchase price was estimated at almost $10-million.

Officials of the firm said they plan to build a residential community with single and multi-family dwellings, commercial areas, parks, schools, playgrounds and shopping centers.

An 84-acre shopping center, comparable with the Stonestown and Hillsdale complexes, is planned at the approximate intersection of Eastmoor avenue and the new Junipero Serra freeway.

The estimated assessed valuation of the property is $51 million, which would almost double Daly City's current assessed valuation of $63-million.

If the property is annexed by Daly City, the move will be the city's biggest annexation since the council added the Westlake area in 1949.

The land will abut the Westborough tract owned by the Callan Realty firm. The city council was defeated in an attempt to annex that territory in 1960.

Residents defeated the move by a 2 to 1 margin in a referendum.

One of the leaders in the defeat, Fred J. Walker, wrote to the council last week expressing his disapproval of the Christen annex proposal.

City council members have been appearing before groups to explain the Christen developers' plans as they have been relayed to them.

One of the major points stressed is the advantage of receiving both sales taxes and property taxes from shopping centers planned in the Christen land.

A LAST-MINUTE delay in the budget approval was caused by Councilman George Mason who raised an objection to the spending of $7500 for remodeling a Nike bunker as a police headquarters.

Total estimated cost for the project was estimated at $25,000, with $12,500 matching funds to come from the federal government, and $5000 from last year's budget.

Mason said he felt it would be more prudent to invest in a capital improvement fund or land purchase. He argued use of the bunker could only be temporary until the city is able to acquire a civic center as a permanent seat for its governmental agencies.

Mason said he did not think the bunker was suitable. He said it was located too far from the central portion of the city, and in an area with bad weather.

The council ultimately decided to appropriate the $7500 for a police headquarters and make a decision on the improvement of the bunker later when more definite information is available from the government about terms of a lease.

Mason also asked that $500 be included in the budget to provide more adequate seating for residents at city council meetings.

He said the council should show more respect for the public who frequently come out in inclement weather to attend meetings.

Mayor Harold Feyge chuckled and said he thought most of the regular attendees were well-calloused by now.

But the lady on the council got the last word on the subject.

Councilwoman Jean Fassler said she felt the audience would be even more appreciative if the meetings could be cut in length. She said councilmen should be careful about repeating things and try to stick to the main subject at hand.

City Manager Karl Baldwin's original preliminary budget had called for an increase of 12½ cents in property taxes in order to meet proposed expenditures.

Closing Up Shop

FIESTA FAREWELL — Claudia Smith, Miss Daly City, and Mike Fox, building superintendent, begin to close shop at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta as the fair drew to an end Saturday. Claudia reigned over festivities for the last day, which was Daly City Day at the fair.

Record Fair Attendance Reported by Fair Chiefs

The twenty-ninth annual San Mateo county Fair and Floral Fiesta closed its gates Saturday night after breaking all previous attendance records.

Fair manager William M. Wilson reported that 183,111 persons attended the nine - day show. This compares with the previous high of 179,863 established last year.

Fair officials were particularly pleased with the results of the twenty-ninth annual show because the big hall of flowers building was closed just a month before the Fiesta was scheduled to begin.

For a time, some thought it might be necessary to cancel the show entirely because of this setback.

However, working with assistance from the county and an enterprising plan for use of the Twin Industrial building as a Hall of Flowers, the show went on as scheduled.

Favorable reports poured into the fair office on the excellence of the new design for the flower and garden display which uitlized both wings of the new building and the spacious courtyard.

Enjoying even greater success was the Fiesta horse race meet, held in conjunction with the fair.

Total receipts during the eight days of racing were $4,682,396, an increase of nearly half a million dollars over last year, according to A. J. Gaggero, member of the Fair Association board and director of racing.

The racing receipts were up nearly 17 per cent over last year.

"The public response to this year's Fiesta has been gratifying," manager Wilson said.

Wilson pointed out that the fair's many exhibitors and concessionaries also reported healthy gains this year.

This, in spite of the fact that the conversion of the Twin Industrial building to a Hall of Flowers necessitated the moving of all commercial and industrial exhibits into other quarters including the Big Top tent which was erected on the fairgrounds at a cost of $5000.

ADVISES COMMISSION

Tonini Warns of Pool Peril Again

Terra Nova's outdoor pool may have to be closed if something is not done to halt illegal after-dark use by teen-agers, principal Hal Tonini warned members of the park, beach and recreation commission in a letter presented at the commission meeting last week.

Dr. Tonini, who had notified Jefferson Union High school trustees of the problem, pointed out that the illegal use is a very dangerous practice because of the absence of life guards and pool lights.

He said beer bottles, cans and other debris have been left in the pool.

Unsanitary practices during the unauthorized swimming parties are resulting in a high bacteria count in the pool and may end in the closing of the pool and an interruption in the recreational program, Dr. Tonini's letter stated.

Recreation commission members decided to post a notice at the pool and to request a report from Pacifica police on measures being taken to arrest and prosecute the offenders.

A recent appointee to the park, beach and recreation commission, Thomas Tromborg, resigned last week because of business obligations.

Police Eye Terra Nova Pool Closely

Pacifica police are patrolling the Terra Nova High school pool regularly, in an effort to keep out unauthorized after-dark swimmers, Policeman Neil Tremaine said this week.

Youngsters caught in the pool are being taken to the station, their parents called, and both given warnings.

Tremaine says that further action, prosecuting any juvenile offenders, depends on the back ground of the youths and what kind of trouble they have been in before.

Depending on individual circumstances, youths may be let off with a reprimand, placed on probation or sent to the juvenile home.

pieces of land, totaling about a third of an acre, for the new school site.

These were the last two parcels of land needed for the school, Foster said.

In discussing the project, the board also reviewed the status of planning for a school to house seventh and eighth grades in the former Christen ranch lands in the southern part of the school district.

Foster reported that the district is trying to reach a mutually-satisfactory agreement with the land developers over a site.

In other action, the board authorized the borrowing of $500,000 to meet district expenses until the new school year's tax receipts are received from the county.

Foster said the monies could be borrowed at a cost of 1.2 to 1.9 per cent a year.

He added that borrowed funds not needed immediately could be invested in 30-day treasury notes at a return of 2½ per cent a year.

should be discussed," Pacelli said.

He has been meeting with representatives of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities in discussing juvenile delinquency problems.

The council passed a resolution urging a study between the cities and councils on how to better use monies that will be received as a result of the one-cent increase in the state gas tax.

The resolution, authored by Verducci, was sent to the Daly City council by the San Mateo County Council of Mayors. Verducci is chairman of the county group.

The resolution proposes that the Nolte report on city-county roads be used as a master plan for roads in the county. The cities and county paid almost $200,000 for the report, prepared by consulting engineers.

The council named San Fernando Way "a major street" from Sullivan road to Mary's Help hospital access road. The move makes the street eligible for state funds for widening to four lanes.

Route 229 Hearing Set In Pacifica

Pacificans soon will get their first chance to view state plans for the Pacifica section of Route 229, the proposed state freeway linking the Cabrillo coastal highway with the Bayshore freeway.

A public hearing has been scheduled by the State Division of Highways for Wednesday, September 18, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of Oceana High school.

Mayor Harold Feyge, notified last week of the hearing was told that citizens and public officials will be invited to hear the results of planning studies for the development of Route 229 from Cabrillo to Sweeney Ridge.

The location of the portion east of Sweeney Ridge, a subject of considerable controversy in San Bruno, has been established, according to the division of highways.

The alternative routes for location of the western section of the freeway will be presented.

Prior to the public hearing, maps showing the routes will be displayed in the multi - purpose room at Oceana High school Thursday, September 5, at 2 p.m.

fell $31,000 short of an expected $121,000 in additional revenue.

No increase in property taxes is planned however, since the district already is taxing to the limit allowable by law — $3.29 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The budget includes $82,000 for a personnel director, additional psychologist, maintenance work, site improvements, and purchase of library books and audio-visual equipment.

Actual expenditures on these items will not take place without further board action, pending more definite information on the district's income.

Bayshore to Be Welcomed

Daly City businessmen will welcome Bashore into the city September 12 at a luncheon.

The board of directors of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce voted Thursday to invite several Bayshore leaders who were instrumental in bringing the area into Daly City.

Several city officials also will be invited to the luncheon.

Report Due On Cleaning Of Beaches

There appears not to be any youth groups in Pacifica interested in cleaning the city's littered beaches, recreation Director Eldred Lokker will report to city council tonight.

At the last council meeting, Councilwoman Jean Fassler initiated an investigation into the possibility of a community effort to clean local beaches, particularly those such as Pedro Beach, which is private property but used extensively by the public.

In his report, Lokker will say that according to information he has received from the state division of beaches and parks, beach cleaning should be done either by large mechanized cleaners or hand-pickers.

Among other items on a long council agenda is a letter from Howard Edminster, objecting to a recent announcement by coastal chambers of commerce that they would welcome a nuclear power plant proposed for Bodega Bay.

Edminster says the chambers acted in an irresponsible manner and should forfeit all right to financial support from the city.

A report will be made by members of the citizens committee studying a proposed police-fire commission. Commission members have indicated they will recommend against such a commission.

Safety committee members will make a recommendation on the posting of stop signs on Alicante drive.

They Forgot The Hot Spell

It seems Daly City garden buffs forgot about all that extra watering they did during the unseasonable warm June and July the city experienced this year.

At least that's the report from the city's water department, which lamented that residents had forgot the extra watering when they got their water bills for that period.

The department reported that a number of complaints had been received about higher bills.

In a effort to eliminate unnecessary complaints, the department has offered these comments:

The water you have used has gone through your meter. This is the only basis any water utility has for making charges to its customers.

Your complaints are checked and an instrument is attached to your water meter to indicate any meter leaks. The meter is re-read in order to determine any errors in reading.

If you are dissatisfied and apprehensive of the reading of your meter, the water department will provide qualified personnel to aid you in reading your own meter.

The department can check the water usage of your residence for the last two years—and even further than that if you so desire.

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am 17 years old. My father is in the nursery business and he wants me to do the same. I want to be an artist and teach art. He is really mad at me but I want to teach, not plant. He says he won't pay for my college unless I study to be a nursery man. What shall I do.

M. L.

Dear M .L.,

I am a firm believer of living your own life and doing what pleases you most. No one can live your life for you and no one appreciates college more than some one who pays his own way through.

I am also a very firm believer of paying your own way through college. If your father is paying the bills, he has a right to make demands and you have to take what he says.

But, if you pay your own tab, you are boss. No disrespect to your dad, but he isn't being very understanding.

As far as college goes, pay your own way. Then you will work harder and study more because you're working for it. When you are putting out the cash, you are inclined to appreciate your education a lot more.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

How can I tell my girl friend to wise up? She is always telling dirty jokes and the guys are getting a little sick of it. They think she's a slob, but she is really a good kid. What do I tell her?

A Friend of a Friend

Dear Friend . . .

Get right to the point, don't beat around the bush. If you do, she might miss the importance of what you are trying to tell her.

Let her know that there is nothing more disgusting than a girl telling a dirty joke. The only thing I can compare it to is a white flower that someone threw mud on.

Tell your friend that a girl who is loose with her stories gets the reputation of having loose morals as well.

So, my friend, tell this girl that if she doesn't stop this story-telling, her reputation won't be worth the powder to powder her nose.

Girls; watch this thing called reputation. It's a very important thing and once you get it dirty, no soap or detergent can clean it.

Self-Help Plan Needs Help

Teachers for Daly City Wanted

ONE OF the most ambitious volunteer public training programs ever undertaken in the United States is faltering in the North county because of a lack of volunteer instructors.

The Medical Self-Help Training program in San Mateo county is scheduled to begin public classes September 19.

Yet, only five persons in Daly City have volunteered to become instructors in the program. Aprpoximately 60 are needed in Daly City.

The medical self-help training program is a new national plan, designed to teach American families essential health skills — ranging from hygiene and sanitation to emergency childbirth.

The plan, conceived and developed by the U.S. Public Health service, has been created with the idea of teaching at least one member of every family what to do in the event of a major disaster or nuclear war.

In such emergency cases, professional medical assistance may not be available for days or weeks. Meanwhile routine public health and sanitation facilities may be seriously disrupted.

The program differs from the American Red Cross first aid course in that it teaches what to do when medical help is not available rather than "what to do until the doctor comes."

THE SAN MATEO Unified Disaster and Civil Defense area was selected to conduct a pilot study of the self-help program in December of last year.

Smaller pilot studies have been conducted but this is the most ambitious one to date. The ultimate aim of the program is to train 150,000 persons in San Mateo county.

The program comprises three phases.

The first phase was to form a basic faculty of doctors to teach the program to volunteer instructors. The San Mateo County Medical association has provided the physicians.

The second phase, however, the recruitment of volunteer instructors, has had only a limited response.

"The situation is particularly critical in Daly City, Burlingame, Pacifica, San Bruno and South San Francisco," Mrs. Helen Lengfeld, chairman of the instructor training committee, said.

Persons interested in enrolling as instructors may phone 342-7679 or write United Voluntary Services, 218 Tilton avenue, San Mateo.

The organizers of the program had hoped to have 60 instructors in Daly City teach 25 people each or a total of 1500 persons.

The instructors will receive 16h ours of training from the basic faculty and will be prepared to begin classes during the third phase of the program.

PUBLIC CLASSES will begin September 19 with registration at local high schools. The classes will be conducted in schools, churches and civic buildings.

Instructors also will be available to conduct classes for business firms, social and fraternal groups and other community organizations which have their own classroom facilities.

The course consists of 12 lessons, that will be given in 16 hours of instruction and in eight sessions.

The lesson guidebooks, developed in close co-operation with specialists of the American Medical association and the American National Red Cross, are written in plain language, using a minimum of technical terms and avoiding complicated descriptions.

The class content includes: an introduction to the program; radioactive fallout and shelter; healthful living in emergency situations; artificial respiration; bleeding and bandaging; fracture and splints; transportation of the injured; burns, shock, nursing care, infant and child care, and emergency childbirth.

Board Studies Pedro Permit

Pacifica Planning commission will hear an application Monday night from Lawrence Kennedy, owner of the Vagabond club, a Pedro Point tavern, for a permit to add a restaurant.

Several months ago over the opposition of several Pedro Pointers, the city council approved the rezoning, establishing the tavern on a permanent basis.

Richard Rawson is applying for a variance to build 12 one-bedroom apartments on the northeast corner of Norfolk and Lewis lane.

Edward Maykel is applying for permission to build apartments on an 11-acre parcel north of the Surfside Manor one subdivision and west of the Coastal highway.

Ernest Lindsay is applying for a variance to build on a substandard building site east of 326 Carmel avenue.

Teen Workshop To Offer Drama

The "King's Creampuffs," a children's play by Martha Swintz, will be presented at 3 p.m. next Wednesday at the War Memorial Community center by the Teenage Drama Workshop.

The group, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department, has been rehearsing and putting the show together as a summer activity.

Members of the cast include: Jim Doiron, Carol Gonzales, Brad Hansen, Judy Knight, Lori Hannigan, Steve McBride, Phyllis Chioso, Gail Land, and Maureen Maschinot.

Admission will be free.

TO CONSTRUCTION

Cabrillo Has New Approach

By LOIS MCNALLY

A handsome new addition to the Laguna Salada school system is the newly completed Cabrillo school on Crespi drive in Linda Mar.

All-brick Cabrillo school represents a trend away from the indoor-outdoor all-glass type of school which has been so popular for the past several years.

CASPER W. WEINBERGER, chairman of the Republican state Central committee, will address a meeting of North county Republicans at 8 tonight in the Southern restaurant in South San Francisco. Weinberger's talk will touch on the GOP national convention in the Cow Palace next year.

The new school has few outside windows. Instead the classrooms will be lighted by special luminous ceilings.

The window-wall schools, of which Sharp Park school is one, have not proved too practical in Pacifica.

As Robert Fizer, Laguna Galada administrative assistant, explains it, the lighting from the large windows is inconsistent, poor on foggy days and glaring on sunny ones.

The luminous ceilings give a uniform completely shadow - free light—a soft even glow. It is estimated that the new lighting will also cut costs, a prime factor in economy - minded Pacifica.

With large window areas, there is a constant problem of breakage, cleaning, loss of heating and trying to maintain a standard temperature in the building.

Cabrillo is the second school in the Laguna Salada district to be built of a special new brick construction. Ortega was the first.

The walls consist of brick in two layers with a concrete inner wall. The walls are left exposed on the inside to save further painting costs.

Cabrillo has an extensive use of wood paneling and a special non-mar plastic coated wall covering.

Repair of the extensive vandalism that occurred at Cabrillo school this summer has just about been completed.

Youngsters, heaving boulders through plate glass doors and windows and smearing asphalt linoleum adhesive throughout three classrooms, damaged the school to the extent of $10,000.

Principal of Cabrillo will be Paul Eckels, formerly a curriculum consultant in the district. The school will enroll 648 students this fall with two special education classes and two empty classrooms for future expansion.

TRUCK DAMAGED

W. C. Lasswell funeral chapel at 6154 Mission street, Daly City, reported to police last week that vandals had damaged a company pickup truck, parked at School and Mission streets.

Bandits Get $200 After Posing as Two Customers

Two bandits, posing as customers, held up a young clerk in the Mayfair Market at 2350 Junipero Serra boulevard in Daly City shortly before 4 a.m. Friday.

They fled with $200 in currency. The market is open all night.

The clerk, Michael Hagan, 19, of 30 South Grant street, San Mateo, told Daly City Patrolman William Schumacher that the two robbers had wheeled a grocery kart up to his counter with several small items in it.

After he finished ringing up the items on the cash register, the bandits pointed .38 caliber revolvers at him and told him to put money from the register into a bag.

The bandits then told him to lie down on the floor and while one stood guard, the other left the store and drove a get-away auto to the front door.

Both of the bandits then fled.

Schumacher said the robbers had plugged pay telephones in the store with matches to prevent employes from calling police.

The get-away was witnessed by a Pacifica resident, Robert Castle of 477 Inverness drive who had just left the store with a bag of groceries.

He gave police a description of the auto.

By LE PACINI

THIS WRITER tries hard never to second-guess — at least not in print.

Second-guessing seems to be the prerogative of the fan, not of the commentator's.

Alvin Dark did such a magnificent job of second-guessing himself after a recent Houston 1-0 loss, however, that we feel he left the door open for some legitimate, conscientious second-guessing.

Perhaps it would be best to briefly reconstruct the events leading up to a Dark quote which we believe will live as long as managers allow reporters to interview them after a blowa game.

Jack Sanford had lost a three-hitter while the Giants had collected nine bingles. Jack was due, the Giants were due, they — the world's greatest power hitters — were supposed to have gotten fat on the world's weakest hitting team, and to top things off, the Dodgers had won, putting our heroes six full games off the pace.

In the eighth inning, Chuck Hiller had led off with a single. Felipe Alou, with everyone in the ball park expecting a sacrifice atttempt, then swung twice from the heels, missed both times, and eventually hit into a neat double play. This was a variation of the take two, hit to right theme. Willie McCovey, next man up, hit a double, which would have scored, in all probability, a runner—even from first. Willie Mays flew out to end the inning.

After the game, Dark was asked by a San Francisco reporter why he hadn't signaled Alou to bunt.

Alvin replied, "Alou can't bunt."

Well, now. Alvin didn't say that bunting was not good strategy in the situation. He merely said that Alou couldn't bunt. It seems to us that the function of a major league manager at this point would have been to insert someone in Alou's place who could bunt.

And after that had been done—after that particular game, if possible—it would seem to us that a major league manager would have a major league ball player in the batting cage practicing bunts until he drew blisters.

And it would seem to us that that particular major league player would not get back into the lineup until he could either bunt acceptably or prove that he could get base-hits in such situations more often than not.

OF ALL the skills required to play baseball, bunting is one of the simplest to learn. That is if the batter is willing to give himself up — sacrifice himself, as the name of the play implies.

We would like, sometime, to watch a batting practice session at Candlestick Park that sincerely included bunting practice, not just a feeble waving of the bat in lieu of same, and resultant chuckles from the infielders, who evidently think it's great fun that a major leaguer doesn't even know how to square off to sacrifice bunt — a skill that any Little leaguer could demonstrate quite adequately.

It seems to us the Giants have already demonstrated quite ably their ability to knock balls over fences. But in any line of endeavor, common sense would tell one to practice his weaknesses, not his strngths.

Yet we're willing to wager that the next time you see Felipe Alou in the batting cage, he's concentrating on wanging them off the walls.

We suppose the same San Francisco writer was too embarrassed to ask Alvin about his ninth inning strategy in that game. Cepeda led off with a single, but Tom Haller, without a thought in the world of bunting, flew out after taking a strike.

Matty Alou then hit a pinch-single, which would have scored a runner from second, but in this case advanced Cepeda only to third. Harvey Kuenn, also pinch-hitting, then hit into a double play to end the game.

Hadn't Dark learned his lesson in the eighth? And what was his excuse this time? Haller has proven this season on one or two occasions that he isn't a bad bunter for a free swinger.

THIS DISCUSSION also leads us to wonder what ever happened to the time-honored technique, in such situations, of hitting behind the runner — that is, attempting to hit the ball on the ground behind the base to which the runner would next be advancing, so as to avoid a possible double play as well as to advance the runner.

This piece of execution is not signaled from the bench. It is something the thinking ball player does on his own. In fact, it is not unknown for a team player to sacrifice on his own, should his manager forget to signal for it. But that at the moment is beside the point.

Had Alou even attempted to hit behind the runner, a double play might have been avoided. But, like most of the power happy Giants, he was blithely swinging away for that fairyland over the left field wall. To pull a fast ball pitcher the likes of Dick Farrell, who was on the mound at the time, a batter must concentrate on it, which Alou evidently did, hitting the ball to short. A ground ball to second or first base could have meant a tie for the Giants.

We aren't accusing Alou or any other of the Giants of not, spiritually, being a team player or of not caring about winning. This would be absurd. Despite what you may hear about professional indifference to winning, no athlete—perhaps least of all the professional — likes to lose.

Bad pitches, physical errors, slumps — these are things for which the manager can't be held accountable.

But throwing to the wrong base, not remaining alert on the field, and not knowing how to bunt — these are things which management should handle.

Clodhoppers, Knights Top Cage Leagues

The clodhoppers and Clippers continue to pace the action in the Long division of the summer high school basketball league, sponsored by the Daly City recreation department.

The Clodhoppers still lead the league, downing the previously-undefeated Celtics 47-42 behind Ed Larios' 21-point output. Steve Willis and Bill Jones scored 14 and 10 points each in leading the Mission street five to victory.

Hal Westmoreland matched Larios' game high of 21 as he paced a late fourth quarter rally by the Celtics. Mike Cullen's nine points and Tom Miles' tough rebounding also aided the Celtic cause.

Setting new league records at every turn, the high jumping Clippers continued their undefeated ways by running over the Rascals, 105-56.

Willis Mack set a new league high for points scored and field goals, as he poured through 48 pounds on 22 field goals.

Four other players scored in double figures as the winners ran up a 27-8 first quarter lead and then coasted from there. The outmanned Rascals were lead by Dave Breazeale and Larry Kinkade who scored 16 and eight points respectively.

In other Long division games, the lanky Rangers garnered their first league victory by dumping the Rams, 50-43.

Paced by Marty Coil's 13 points, the Rangers took full advantage of a strong bench and their height to steadily maintain an early lead.

Chuck Schart's 10 points and tough rebounding also aided the Rangers to their initial win of the season.

Jerry Donovan and John Gibson each scored 12 points and Bill Wuerthner was top on the boards for the losing Rams.

In the week's last game, the Whalers moved into fourth place by downing the Gunners 63-43 behind a balanced scoring attack.

Mike Frank paced the hilltop five with 18 points as Rich Adkins, Jim Mason and Mike Hannigan scored 15, 14 and 11 points respectively.

Diminutive Ed Rickenbacher was the game's high man as he scored 21 points to lead the shorter Gunners.

Dan Crowe scored 10 in a losing cause.

In Short division play, the Knights have a firm hold on first place with a 4-0 record. They downed the previously undefeated Half Pints, 61-41, in last week's top action.

Captain Tom Houston scored 15 and Jim Belfrage and Dan Cafferetta 12 each. Tom Pritchard dominated the boards and scored 10 points as the Knights sped to a 32-20 halftime lead.

Ron Renigh and Don Daves scored 16 and 12 points in the Half Pints' losing cause.

The Nats played a steady tough ball game to down the hardpressing Linda Mars, 48-40, as Bob Bishop's 15 points led a balanced scoring attack.

Dan Lippi's rebounding and 14 points and Bob Langsan's heads-up playmaking and 13 points were other keys to the Nats' victory.

Mike Derloo, Ed Soul and Captain Bill MacPhillips were the top Linda Mar players.

The Hawks fell out of first place by having to forfeit their game to the Breakers and they came back in a practice game to stop the Linda Mars, 50-17, as Telvis Jones and Mike Wynne paced the scoring attack with 15 and 11 points.

Sarto Legion Team Loses 10-3

The Joe Sarto SF American Legion lost to Long Beach 1-3 in the final game of the State American Legion championships in Yountville Sunday.

The local team defeated West Covina and Anahiem to qualify for the finals in the baseball tournament. San Francisco took the title last year.

Long Beach had too much pitching and batting power for the San Franciscans. The Southern California team went undefeated throughout the tournament.

Redsox Lead League; Roofers Nip Leopards in Cliffhanger

Late summer baseball leagues, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department, were in full swing last week. Here is a rundown on the action:

MIDGET—FAR WEST

It looks like coach Fred Belluomino's PAL Redsox have finally jelled. The Redsox were badly handled in the beginning of this season and looked like they would play the doormat role.

Belluomini worked the team up from the cellar by extra practice and hard work. The Redsox have jumped off to an early lead with a 3 and 0 record in the new league. Last week, they shut out the Holy Angels Colts, 4-0.

The Colts took revenge on the PAL Indians with an 8-2 win later in the week. Timmy Dillon went all the way, giving up only four hits and a walk. Gerald Kalaki was the hero for the Colts with a triple and a single.

The Redsox had a squeaker with the OLM Dons. In a close ball game, they came out on top, 7-6.

The Dons defeated the BYA Mets 12-7 in a ball game that was rather fruitless as the Mets then dropped out of the league.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

The Intermediate league hosted a battle at Westlake park's north diamond last week. The Bender Roofers and the OLM Leopards met in a seesaw cliffhanger before the Roofers won it in the sixth inning.

MIDGET—PACIFIC COAST

If you hear a lot of noise coming out of Diamondsville, it's caused by the heavy poundings given Pacific Coast division pitchers by Tony Moss of the league leading PAL Pirates.

Moss, a midget edition of Willie Mays, blasted out a grand-slam homerun last week to help his team defeat the Misracks Bombers, 12-1. He also handled the mound for five innings, giving up four hits and two walks.

Not to be overshadowed by teammate Moss was Pirate Billy Sherbert who started the hit parade off with a two run homer in the first.

Howie Kaplan took the mound for Moss in the sixth inning and shut the Bombers out in the final frame.

Alan Hoffman made some nosie down at Colma for his BYA Rams with a three-run homer in the first inning of their game with the BYA Blues. Teammate John Kilipoulos picked up 13 strikeouts on the mound and hit three for four as the Rams took the Blues, 10-1.

Tied with the Rams for second place with a 2 and 1 record, the OLM Wolves kept pace by downing the OLPH Grays, 11-3.

MIDGET—BIG SIX

It is no surprise to anyone that the PAL Cardinals are leading the big 6 division. Their 6-3 win over the OLPH Golds caused a few eyebrows to lift and they could only turn 10 hits into six runs against the PAL Giants up from the lower division.

The Giants could only get one hit off Gary Wilson as they were blanked. Ron Hackett hit three for four for the Cards.

The only other game recorded saw the PAL Braves shut out the PAL Yankees 8-0. Micky Gentile tossed one-hit and one-walk ball for 5 innings, Smoky Morton came on in relief in the sixth and did the trick.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Skyline Plaza won its second game of the late summer junior baseball league. This week, the PAL Dodgers fell victim to Marv Smith. Smith gave up only two hits in the 4-1 win. Tom Wuenter hit 2 for 3 for Plaza. This was the Plaza's 21st win of the year as against 8 losses.

Saints Win In Tri-City

Second round action in the Tri-City Summer High School Basketball league got underway as first round champions, San Francisco Saints, continued their winning ways by downing the South Sunset A.C., 6-2.

Jim Papalias' pitching and the three-for-four hitting of centerfielder John Valero, paced the undefeated winners.

Games this Sunday find the Saints facing the Jefferson A.C. nine at 12:30 p.m. and the South Sunset club going against Westmoor BYA at 3 p.m. Both games will be played at Marchbanks.

Tigers Down Coast Stars

Daly City's PAL Tigers defeated the Pacifica All Stars 13-3 in a Babe Ruth practice game Sunday at White field.

Jeff Mietz hit two doubles and a 320-foot homer over the centerfield fence to drive in five runs for the Tigers.

Dan Caffera and Terry Senn provided the rest of the punch for the Daly City team. Caffera drove in two runs with a triple and a double and Senn banged out two doubles.

Joe Cardoza (14-2) held the Pacifica All-Stars to six hits to get credit for the win.

Serra Bowl

THE FALL '63-64 bowling season will be an exciting one for the younger set at the Serra Bowl. At the present time more than one hundred teams of youngsters from eight to 18 years old are planning to compete in Winter leagues under the auspices of the brand new BPAA Youth Bowling association. The program is extensive and varied with emphasis placed on instruction as well as league and tournament organization. Any parents wishing more information on the YBA or any young people interested in joining up should phone WYman 2-3444 and speak to Brad N., junior director.

The list of high scores in league play this week at Serra is truly staggering and any organized mention beyond a somewhat random listing would indeed be difficult. Anyway, here goes with what we hope is an accurate account of who were the high rollers in the most recent action on the lanes.

Jerry Smith tallied 222—586 in the Sunday Cocktail league to lead Mann's Dinner House to a 3-1 win over the Original Palace foursome.

In Pilots league competition Joe DeSanto led Johny's Auto Supply to a 4-0 sweep over team two on his 215—609 series.

Scoring in the 810 Scratch league was led by Bert Koshaba's 236—582 effort which helped to earn the Ed Michael's Construction a 3-game win over Flying Goose Sporting Goods.

Dick Pickard tumbled 224—574 and Charles Martucci picked up 244—539 as they paced the S. F. Silents to a 3-1 decision over team 8 in 775 Boozers kegling. Also in that loop Ned Larin baged 223—572 as the Pick Ups team took 2 out of 3 games from the Leathernecks despite Roland Fierro's 210—591 for the latter group.

Sea Bowl

HERE IS a rundown on the week's events: Yawners: Shirley Cole—Both high series and game 186—466. Lenore Lewis rolled a 181 for her first game. Lil Taylor (a new bowler) rolled a nice 140. Rita Harris came up with a 163 in her last game. Stardusters: Ruth Dallaire took both high game and series 197—510. Barbara Tosti came up with a big 182 in her last game. Mermaids: Eleanor Payne took top honors with a 177—458. Dolores Logan bowled the first turkey, and Verna Shultz (a brand new bowler) rolled her first turkey and also second high game of 173.

Aquanots: Lois Talbot came up with the first turkey and also tied Lois Wilson with both bowling a 175 game. Followed by Thelma Corcorran, 171 and Vin Vander Meer, 170. Alleyholics: High series Norma Hurt, 411, and high game, Judy Vlahovich, 166. June Guerrero rolled two nice games—a 148 and 143. Neptunes Daughters: Marge Hahn led her league with a 186—505. Janet Jensen started out with a big 179. Louise Atkinson followed up by rolling a 178 in her second game. Phyllis Crisp started out with a 174.

Ball & Chain: Fred Smith is top man of his league with a 196—494. Tony Barajas rolled a 175 in his last game. Moonshiners: Ellen Feight was a very busy little gal as she took top honors in her league with a 190—506. Other high games are Pat Cde Baca, 175; Donna Hargrove, 145, Norma Silva, 156 and Gisela Repkow, 145. Mix Masters: Les Coleman, both high series 190—1535. Nils Ansgarius had high game 211. Nancy Sherwood bowled a big 203 in her first game. Herb Zelaya had a nice 202 game.

Tuesday Tigers (Bantams): High games go to Steve Lewis, 124, Dana Rennett 77, Janice Erickson 75. Mario Torrigino 74. National Bantams: High games, Gruby Grubaugh 122, Jim Overton 108, Jack Dilles 106, Jeffery Burt 98, Burt Saling 104 and Dini Saling 98. Pro Match: Dan Barnes led his league with a 241—598. Not too far behind Dan, John McGuinness 234—579. Wednesday Men's 775 Handicap: Roland Lewis was top man with a 528 series. High game goes to Lee Standridge 199. Other high games, Glenn Berg 189, Bill Winfred 187, Darrell Cole 183.

Westlake Bowl

WITH GUARANTEED prizes of $400 first and $200 second the August Midnight Sweeper for bowlers with 195 average and under is scheduled for midnight August 24. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of one for each eight entries with special awards of $40 to the high eight game series on each sixteen lanes which does not place in the regular prize list. Primo is accepting advance entries at $30.00 each.

Ray Moore became a member of Westlake's most exclusive club as he joined Bob Bresnahan, Bill Greer and John Bussey with a 300 game last Friday evening. While all activity stopped, he calmly put the last three balls in the pocket for a perfect game. To prove it was no fluke, Ray led the Classic Singles league Tuesday night with a 698 series.

As the First Annual Ora Swanson Southpaw singles and doubles tournament moved into high gear, Bob Kern won the first week's singles prize while Joe Maurino and Steve Kosmides teamed to take the first doubles weekly award. The tournament for left-handers only will run until September 1.

Don Gilliam led his Renon Trio league Tuesday evening with a big 258 game and 668 series.

John Tarczyk missed the six hundred mark by only four pins as he topped the Golden Gate handicap for the week with a 229 game and 596 series.

With a 208 game and 578 series, Harry Henselmeier set the pace in the 815 Scratch league.

Sam Rainey's 206 game and 558 series gave him Bowler of the Week honors in the Early Fives.

THE SOUTHGATE Mixed Fives produced two new leaders as Lou Laflamme and Erwin Brerthrentz were the high rollers for the evening. Lou rolled 198 and 487 while Erwin shot a 587 series on a high game of 221.

Paul Wanstrath and Dick Rentschler bettered the two hundred and six hundred marks in the American Masters 900 Scratch league as Paul shot 233-607 and Dick posted 223-601.

Presenting the ball is day manager Rick Dreier. Five-year-old Ellen received a savings bond for being number 50,000.

AND CHURCH ACTIVITIES OF DALY CITY, COLMA AND PACIFICA

Baptist Families In Summer Project

Two Westlake Community Baptist church families are participating in a summer project called "Homes Open Please."

The project is conducted by the International Inter-racial Fellowship commission for American Baptists of the State Convention and the American Baptist Union.

An Indan child will be invited to be a guest and companion to the family's children for a two-week period.

Participating in the program are Mr. and Mrs. George Easley, who will host a nine-year-old boy, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay McPherson, who will host a nine-year-old girl.

The children come from various rancherias and reservations and the selection is done with the help of two social welfare workers and a pastor. They are brought from their homes to a central location in Oakland where the host families will pick them up.

An attempt is made to bring the same child for as many as five years in order that the impact of a repeated experience might be had. The same child is not necessarily entertained in the same home each time.

Mr. and Mrs. Easley participated in the program last year.

"It's difficult to realize these children come from homes with dirt floors and no running water," Mrs. Easley said. "The young boy visiting us was fascinated with our bathtub and spent hours bathing."

Mrs. Easley asked him if he wasn't getting tired of bathing so much.

He replied, "No, but it gets pretty cold."

She showed him how he could add hot water by turning on the hot water faucet "and then he never wanted to get out."

It costs about $11 per child for the round trip transportation, food en route, shoes, sweaters or coats, which often have to be supplied before the child can come.

Money for the program is provided by gifts from Women's Mission societies, B.Y.F.'s, Sunday school classes and interested persons. Some of the societies make and furnish new clothes and 20 drivers give of their time and cars to make these trips possible.

Due to large increases of registration, two Sunday school classes and teachers have been added to the program.

Services will be held Friday at 8:30 p.m. with Rabbi Solomon A. Chore officiating.

Development Class Offered

A child development class for parents will be held August 19-28 at the Lake Merced Church of Christ, on Brotherhood way.

See's Kitchen Big Business

A bright, modern "kitchen" on the corner of El Camino Real and Spruce street in South San Francisco has become an important factor in the economic life of San Mateo county.

This is no ordinary "kitchen." It is located on approximately 4 acres and comprises some 80,000 square feet of plant, storage, sales and administrative facilities.

This "kitchen" is one of the largest users in the nation of California dairy products, walnuts and almonds—as well as chocolate from the Gold Coast of Africa, pure maple sugar from Canada, fresh frozen pineapple from Hawaii, Brazil nuts from South America.

As you've probably surmised by this time, the "kitchen" we're talking about is the northern California home of See's Candies, our state's oldest, largest and best-known candy company.

The South San Francisco Post Office reports that See's is its biggest customer. See's, in turn, is a good customer for many firms throughout San Mateo county. For example, the company's modern liquid chocolate installation was manufactured by the Siracco Tank? and Steel company of South San Francisco. Saracco made a similar installation for See's kitchen in Los Angeles.

From the South San Francisco kitchen, See's candy is delivered regularly to more than 50 See's shops in Northern California, including six in major shopping centers of San Mateo county. Because only fresh nutmeats, butter, milk and other dairy products are used, all deliveries are made in See's own refrigerated trucks. Deliveries are also made by truck to Southern California, while mail orders are carefully packed for shipment to See's customers all over the world.

The first See's Candy shop was opened in Pasadena in 1921 by Mary See, whose picture on the See's white candy box has become the identifying symbol of the company. Mary See has already spent 71 years of a full and active family life before this first venture into business — at the encouragement of friends who liked her home-made candy.

Like Grandma Moses, Mary See started her career late in life, and like Grandma Moses, she was an artist — at candy making. She was also a fine business-woman, remaining actively in charge of her business until nearly 90 years of age. Many times during the depression she took leadership in showing her confidence in the future of California business.

Following Mary See's death in 1939, her son, the late Charles See, became head of the company. In addition to her grandson, Laurance A. See, now president of See's Candy shops, another grandson, Charles, is vice president.

Edward G. Peck is president and general manager of See's Candies, Inc., the subsidiary that includes the South San Francisco Kitchen and all company operations in northern California.

Peach Crisp Is Easy, Delicous Taste Treat

Easy, delicious and just right for two! This crunchy-topped "Peach Crisp" is the ideal dessert for working people who like hurry-up meals. It goes together quickly and bakes while the dinner entree is heating. The peaches are juicy, golden canned clings and the topping a buttery brown sugar mixture.

1 can (1 lb.) cling peach slices
¼ cup brown sugar (packed)
2 tablespoons flour
Dash cinnamon
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
Whipped or plain cream

Drain peaches thoroughly and arrange in 2 individual baking dishes, or 7-inch pie pan, saviing 4 slices for garnish. Blend sugar, flour, cinnamon and butter until crumbly and sprinkle over peaches. Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven until crisp and lightly browned. Serve warm with cream and garnish of peach slices. Makes 2 servings.

Pitcher of Iced Tea Beats Heat

Take a pitcher of iced tea and be creative and comfortable in this hot weather. Tea lends itself to delicious variations on the traditionally favorite "plain iced tea" theme.

The Lipton kitchens have discovered a number of effortless touches to give a pitcher of iced tea that will turn it into a refreshingly new drink. They urge homemakers to use their imaginations for tea drinks that combine their families' favorite fruits and flavorings.

First, a family-sized pitcher — preferably one that holds two quarts of iced tea — is the first necessary step in creating a tea drink. Here's how the Lipton kitchens make basic iced tea:

If you use Flo-Thru tea bags, use three tea bags for each two glasses of iced tea. Brew tea by: rising teapot with boling water, adding Flo-Thru tea bags, pouring over fresh bubbling boiling water, steeping three to five minutes, and removing tea bags. Pour over ice cubs in pitcher or, if you prefer, directly into ice-filled glasses. Add sugar and lemon to taste.

If you use Lipton instant tea, simply put one rounded teaspoon of Lipton instant tea into glass, add water from cold water tap, stir, add ice. Add sugar and lemon to taste. To make by the quart, put two level tablespoons of Lipton instant tea into large pitcher and stir in one quart of cold tap water.

Now for the fun and what strikes your fancy. Before experimenting on your own, you may want to try these tested Lipton variations:

To a two-quart pitcher of cooled tea, mix in 1 6-oz. can of frozen lemonade concentrate, one 10-oz. box frozen strawberries, ½ cup sugar. Stir thoroughly, add ice.

Looking for something exotic? To a two-quart pitcher of cold tea, mix in 1 6-oz. can frozen lemonade concentrate, 1-3 cup grendadine syrup, and 1 teaspoon add ice.

Olive-Salmon Salad Tasty

Salmon gets together with luscious ripe olives and celery in yogurt dressing with a garnish of egg, cucumbers and tomatoes for main-dish "Olive-Salmon Salad." It's an ideal Friday supper or warm - weather luncheon threat. The subtle flavor of ripe olives complements other salad ingredients with distinction. And their dark, rich-looking color enhances the appearance of a legion of salads, soups and meat courses.

Olive-Salmon Salad

½ cup ripe olives
1½ cups flaked canned salmon
½ cup sliced celery or radishes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-3 cup yogurt or mayonnaise
Shredded lettuce
1 hard-cooked egg, quartered
Mayonnaise for garnish
Cucumbers
Tomatoes

Cut olives into large pieces. Combine with salmon, celery, lemon juice and yogurt, tossing lightly. Mount on 4 lettuce-lined salad plates. Top each with a quarter of egg and a dollop of mayonnaise. Garnish with sliced cucumbers and tomatoes.
Makes 4 servings.

Let's Try A Peach Nosegay

"Peach Nosegay" is as refreshing and pretty as a spring bouquet. It's easy to make and equally delicious to eat. Two handsome canned cling peach halves fill the center of a fluffy cottage cheese ring, and tangy grated orange rind, cherries and a bit of fresh mint add extra flavor and color appeal.

PEACH NOSEGAY

1 pint cottage cheese
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries
Lettuce
8 canned-cling peach halves
Maraschino cherries for garnish
Mint sprigs

Blend cottage cheese, orange rind and chopped cherries; form into rough ring on each of 4 lettuce-garnished salad plates.

Prepare Mint Brownie Toys

Are you planning a birthday soon for your son or daughter? Here is a wonderful party idea that boys and girls will love!

Mint Brownie toys, made with Mint Brownie mix, make eating a pure joy — especially when served in so many novel ways. And they're so easy to make—for the ice cream train use fresh banana slices to form the wheels, chocolaty mint brownies for the box car, and a creamy scoop of ice cream for the cargo.

Picture your child's face when he sees his ice cream train! Each member of the party will be delighted to have his own box car to eat. There is no need to do away with candles either — just add them to the steam engine and "let 'er roll."

Easy? Nothing could be easier! The train, prepared beforehand, may serve as a decorative centerpiece for the birthday table, with ice cream heaped on top at the last minute.

If your child is an animal lover, why not make turtles for him: Again, banana slices are used for the feet and head, and a scoop of ice cream forms the shell. Cloves are perfect for turtle eyes. By using a mint brownie and a little imagination, you can make many different kinds of animals. Your children will have fun making these also.

Here are the directions for Mint Brownie toys.

MINT BROWNIE TOYS

Prepare 1 pkg. Mint-Fudge Brownie mix as directed on pkg. When thoroughly cool, cut in desired sizes to make toys (below). Construct the toys directly on individual plates since they are difficult to transfer.

Steam Engine: Place a 3x2" brownie on top of six banana wheels (six ½" thick banana slices, standing on edge), three wheels under each long side. Center a 3x1" brownie on the larger one. Place a marshmallow, wide end up, on narrow brownie near the edge for smokestack. Makes 9 engines per pkg.

Ice Cream Train: Make steam engine (above). Make cars as directed for wagon (below) —except omit the peppermint stick handle. Place cars on individual plates; line up behind the steam engine. Place one scoop of ice cream on top of each car. Makes an 11-car train per pkg.

Wagon: Place one 3x2" brownie on four banana slice wheels (four ½" thick banana slices, standing on edge). Place a 1 to 2" piece of peppermint stick in brownie to make handle. Top with whipped cream or ice cream if desired. Makes about 12 wagons per pkg.

Turtle: Place one 3x3" brownie on four banana legs (four ¼" thick banana slices, flat sides down). Place a 1½" tip piece of banana sliced lengthwise in half partly under the brownie, between two legs, to make the head. Put a 1½" long narrow banana sliver opposite the head, in the same manner, to make the tail. Top with whipped cream or ice cream to make a shell shape on brownie. Makes 9 turles per pkg.

Success Tip: to prevent banana from turning brown, dip in lemon juice before using.

Description: A very tasty way to serve mint brownies that will delight children.

Avocado and Chicken in Sandwiches

Hardly anyone wants to be a slave to kitchen chores in the summer-time yet everyone needs nutritional foos in warm weather.

"Supper Super - Sandwiches" take care of both these matters in mighty tasty fashion. They are easy to prepare and they constitute an eminently satisfying meal. Diced cooked chicken, sliced hard - cooked egg and chopped parsley are heated in a white sauce, then cubes of California avocado are stirred in and the mixture is served immediately between and over slices of toast.

Avocados from California contain 11 vitamins and 14 basic minerals. Some people have a mistaken idea about the calorie content of this appetite - appeasing fruit; a 4-inch half-shell weighing 80 grams contains only 137 calories.

Supper Super-Sandwiches

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
¼ cup finley chopped parsley
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 California avocado
8 slices toast
Paprika

Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour and salt. Add milk; cook and stir until mixture boils and is thickened. Add parsley, eggs and chicken. Heat through. Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Cut fruit into cubes. Stir into chicken mixture. Serve at once between and over slices of toast, sandwich-fashion. Dust with paprika. Makes 4 servings.

A Different Dish—Corn, Pear Relish

"Corn-Pear Relish" is something truly different — and delicious! — in the way of relishes. Fresh California Bartlett pears are combined with whole kernel corn, onion, cucumber, tomatoes, green pepper and seasonings, brought to a boil and allowed to simmer. The result is a truly superior relish to serve on or with all meats.

Fresh California Bartlett pears are a calorie-counters delight because a medium-size fresh pear contains only 63 calaories. The abundance of quick-energy fruit sugar found in fresh Bartletts "pick-up" any time of day.

CORN-PEAR RELISH

2 packages (10-oz. each) frozen whole kernel corn or 3 cups fresh corn cut from cobs
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped cucumber
1 cup chopped, peeled tomatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup vinegar
1 teaspoon turmeric
2 teaspoons mustard seeds
5 or 6 fresh California Bartlett pears

In a large kettle, combine all ingredients except pears. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cover and simmer 30 minutes longer. Cool; serve as relish on frankfurters and buns. Store extra relish in refrigerator. Makes 2 quarts.

Fuchsia, Art Show Readied

Pacifica's gardening enthusiasts and its art colony will join forces this weekend to present the American Fuchsia Society and Pacifica Art Guild show from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday in the Pacifica City hall.

The show will feature canvases by all members of the art guild and outstanding plants and blossoms grown by members of the fuchsia society.

A special bloom table, upon which will be exhibited a number of hybrids developed by Charles Kennett of Walnut Creek will be featured.

Kennett, considered one of the nation's outstanding experts in fuchsia hybridizing, will display plants that will be named and made available to the general public in 1964, according to Mrs. Genelle Curkendahl. Mrs. Cukendahl and Mrs. Sherri Thomas are co-chairmen of the affair.

According to them the show will be free to the public. Visitors who make a donation to the charity fund will be eligible announced Mrs. Curkendahl.

Festivities will begin Saturday morning at 9:45 a.m. when the Pacifica Sweethearts will parade from Sharp Park school down Palmetto to the City hall, at Francisco boulevard and Salada avenue.

The girls are scheduled to arrive at City hall at approximately 10:15, according to Mrs. Curkendahl.

Mayor Harold Feyge will cut a ribbon opening the show. Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan will be mistress of ceremonies.

Of special interest to visitors will be a display of fuchsia corsages, half hangers, baskets, centerpieces and leis, interspersed among the paintings, Mrs. Thomas said.

SPARK COLD TURKEY

Add both curry powder and chopped chutney (with a little of the chutney syrup) to mayonnaise and serve with a platter of cold sliced chicken and turkey plus cooked rice and vegetable salad.

CRUMBLE BACON

Cook four extra slices of bacon until very crisp when you are preparing breakfast bacon. Crumble the extra bacon into half a cup of peanut butter and use as a sandwich filling.

IN WESTLAKE

Back-to-School Style Show Set

A back-to-school fashion show will occupy the spotlight in the Westlake Shopping center Saturday.

Starting at 1 p.m., the show will offer a preview of what school children and their parents will be wearing this fall.

Dick Owens of the New England shop, chairman of the show, said that all Westlake stores have stocked special fall merchandise in preparation for the show.

Apparel stores in the center will show their fall styles.

Live musical entertainment and electric organ music is planned.

Narrator for the show will be Barbara Spann, a leading Bay Area free lance and movie personality.

She and her radio personality husband, Owen Spann, operate a travel agency in Sausalito.

Miss Spann sings regularly with the Dick Noel Singers. She has appeared in many television commercials.

Hip fashions among the male teenagers are slacks that include hidden combs, and double-breasted, brass button jackets.

5000 Apples For Teachers

The Westlake Shopping Center Merchants' association will sponsor its annual "apple for the teacher" sales promotion Saturday, August 24.

Don Davis, Penney's manager and chairman of the association's promotion committee, said 5000 apples will be given away to youngsters.

Fifty of the apples will be yellow instead of red and thereby worth a silver dollar that may be drawn from a little red school house on the center's mall.

The apples will be given away from 11:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

BARBARA SPANN, one of the Bay Area's leading free lance television and film personalities, will handle the commentary for the Westlake Shopping center's back-to-school fashion show Saturday.

Area Cookout Championship 's Scheduled

Twenty-five amateur barbecue specialists will vie for the title of Bay Area Cookout Champion in a head-on competition that will be held Saturday, August 31, at the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City.

This will be the first big barbecue contest ever held in the Bay Area and will be patterned after America's Cookout championship "for men only," sponsored by Kaiser Foil and held annually in Hawaii.

Wally Blake, promotion director of the Westlake Shopping Center, said that the 25 finalists will be chosen on the basis of outdoor main dish recipes submitted to his office during the next three weeks.

Three prominent San Francisco food experts will judge the contest, Blake added.

Each of the male entrants in the contest will be sponsored by a Westlake Shopping Center store.

Entry forms may be obtained at the center, Blake said.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

MEMBERS of the Pacific branch of the American Field Service evidenced a great deal of interest in a small photograph of a young Argentine lad at last week's meeting.

Though the business the members were assembled to discuss was of great importance, nothing seemed quite as important to the assembled group as the fact that here was a picture of the young exchange student they had earned the right to sponsor!

The Pacifica AFS is a young group. Only a few months ago, it was simply the glimmering of an idea in the minds of a number of social and civic leaders.

The plan to bring a foreign exchange student to Pacifica was the type of idea that might have received a few favorable comments here and there and then passed into oblivion if it hadn't been that the idea captured the imaginations of some of the area's most forceful and energetic leaders.

What they have accomplished is mute testimony as to what can be done when people wholly devote their energy to a cause.

Only a few weeks after the initial introduction of the idea of a branch of the AFS in Pacifica, a committee had been formed, members had been recruited and an application for charter had been submitted to the national AFS office in Washington.

Even before the charter had been awarded, members were busily engaged in plans for fund-raising projects. The Rev. John Fredericks, president, along with other officers and members determined immediately that they wanted an exchange student by the fall 1963 school term and that meant that $700 would have to be available by July.

In the weeks that followed, this group literally slaved over projects they hoped would bring in the necessary funds. Their efforts did not always meet with the degree of success the AFS had hoped.

All the members agree that they have fought an uphill fight. This is why there was so much pride reflected on the faces of members as they got their first glimpse of a photograph of Julio Aberto Cornaglia Tietze of San Carlos de Barilocha in Argentina.

Julio, who will arrive within a few weeks, will reside with the Don Miller family while he attends Terra Nova High school.

According to Mrs. Connie Mason, AFS treasurer, the group is still in need of slightly more than $100 but it is hoped that this sum will be raised by public subscription through shares being sold by members. Certificates for five or more shares are still available at $1 per share, according to Mrs. Mason.

THE SENIOR high members of the Pedro Valley Presbyterian church of Pacifica wound up a week of work projects with a delegation of visiting young people from churches all over the Bay Area. The week ended with a party in the home of pastor Vernon Alexander and his wife.

The delegates have spent a week refinishing the church floors and refinishing table tops while they did research for a study of the modern church in suburbia.

While the senior high group has been occupied with the work project, the junior high group has kept busy with hikes, swimming parties and camping trips.

Both groups are sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. James Pekkain representing the Pedro Valley church.

MRS. GEORGE VALENTE, decorations chairman for the Our Lady of Perpetual Help church Mothers club fashion show, has announced that 15 Bay Area florists have offered to donate floral centerpieces, made with artificial flowers, to the fashion show scheduled for October 19.

Members of the decorations committee will make an additional 35 centerpieces and the arrangements will be awarded to one lucky person at each table, Mrs. Valente reported.

PUBLICITY for the OLPH show, entitled Memory Lane, continues to be directed by Mrs. Dorothy Bergin despite the fact that she has had a spate of ill health during past weeks.

Mrs. Bergin will enter Peninsula hospital the first week in September for surgery and will be hospitalized about 2 weeks.

THE REV. AND MRS. H. D. HARKINS are entertaining house guests this week. Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Craig and their children, Donna, Kathy and Steven are here from Torrence.

The Harkins, who spent five days in Howard Springs, will be on hand Sunday to bid farewell to the Rev. Allan Smith of Emporia, Kan. who has shared the pulpit of the Little Brown church with the Reverend Harkins during the summer.

MEMBERS of the Pacifica American Association of University Women and their children met Monday morning for a beach party. Mrs. Ruth Brauly was chairman of the event.

PLANS TO HOLD the Federated Women's club membership tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosenberg of Vallemar have been announced by tea chairman Mrs. Jackie Torres.

Mrs. Torres who is being assisted by Mrs. Florence Lorenz, Mrs. Alice Daniel and Mrs. Edna MacDonald, reported that approximately 100 women are expected to attend the annual affair.

JULY WAS an exciting and very profitable month for Pacifica artist Sherri Thomas whose one woman show at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco was a success.

Coinciding with the end of the showing was the issuance of a San Francisco Entertainment Guide featuring her painting, "The Pier," on the cover, and the awarding of a $75 prize for her painting, "Turmoil," which placed first in the first annual art exhibit sponsored by the Bay View Federal Savings and Loan at Twenty-second street and Mission street in San Francisco.

One hundred paintings by members of the San Francisco Art guild were on display and visitors were asked to vote for their favorite canvas. Mrs. Thomas' painting, which depicted a stormy sea with a ship breaking up in the waves, received the greatest number of votes.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

THE IDEAS today come from near and far and present an interesting variety for your recipe files. It has long been my contention that you good cooks are the most generous people, happy and eager to share your successes, and these delicious recipies prove I'm right.

This recipe for daffodil cake comes from Mrs. Gay Lambert of 1731 Forty - first avenue, San Francisco. Gay is a wonderful cook and has passed on her interest in cooking to her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Hair who lives in Westlake.

DAFFODIL CAKE

2 and three-fourths cups cake flour
2 teas. baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 and three-fourths cups sugar
1 cup shortening
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon almond extract
3 eggs plus 1 yolk
1 cup chopped walnuts

Sift dry ingredients into bowl and add shortening, milk and almond extract. Beat until well mixed then add eggs, beat two minutes; lastly, add the nuts and beat until well blended. Bake in angel pan, 350 degrees, for one hour or until done.

THESE BAKED sandwiches make a very pleasing luncheon dish or a Sunday supper. And most any Friday night, they would bring a new look and taste to the table. Mrs. Kay Mattock of 556 South El Camino, San Mateo, sent me this recipe and recommends it highly.

BAKED ASPARAGUS CHEESESANDWICH

1 pkg. frozen asparagus (9 oz.) thawed
12 slices bread
12 slices Swiss cheese
4 eggs
2½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
½ cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cut asparagus spears in half lengthwise; trim crusts from bread. Arrange six slices of bread on bottom of baking dish (13x9x12); cover each with slice of cheese; top each with two asparagus spear halves. (If you use fresh asparagus, it should be blanched a few minutes in boiling water.)

Repeat layers, dividing the remaining asparagus beween the six sandwiches. In a bowl, beat eggs until light; add milk, nutmeg, salt, pepper and onion, blending thoroughly. Pour over sandwiches; bake 25 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Sprinkle with cheddar cheese; continue to bake 10 to 15 minutes or until it is set and the top is golden brown. Allow to stand 10 minutes; cut in six squares to serve. Serves about six.

By DON MILLER

THERE OFTEN is a tendency among we here in the northern reaches of San Mateo county to regard the College of San Mateo down the Peninsula as too far removed to be of much interest or concern to us.

After all, the thinking goes, the big daddy of higher learning in these parts is San Francisco State college, just a short drive north from Daly City.

Well, Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, that energetic, forward-looking gentleman who heads CSM, dispelled some of that thinking in a rousing talk last week to a most attentive Pacifica Chamber of Commerce.

The president of the College of San Mateo appeared before the chamber to discuss CSM's new College Heights campus.

But before he was through, he left little doubt that despite the county's natural dividing features, he feels CSM is very much a countywide college and that we all can be proud of it.

Bortolazzo's dedication to education, a dedication that now is in its twenty-fifth year, is absolutely apparent whenever he talks of CSM and the college's future.

Dr. Julio Bortolazzo

Lately, he's been doing a lot of talking and for good reason: CSM's new campus is rapidly becoming the talk of the county, not only for its architectural beauty, which is striking, but also for the far-reaching look into the future that the planning of CSM's new home has incorporated.

"Our master plan," he stated proudly to Pacifica's businessmen, "provides for the county's needs for the rest of this century and that is a statement not many colleges in this country can make today."

Bortolazzo derided a contention in some educational circles that the planning of colleges these days need not be a long process.

"That simply is not true. Let me tell you, this campus was really planned."

In fact, so carefully has the layout of the campus been plotted that the location of each of the college's 13 buildings even took into account just exactly how the wind could be expected to behave most of the time.

This study of the wind, Bortolazzo said, went on for a year, which, he wryly added, "is something Horace Stoneham should have thought of."

THE NEW CAMPUS will open its doors in September to some 5000 day students and more than 10,000 who elect to study at night. The 130-acre educational plant is designed so that it can functionally and esthetically be expanded to accommodate 8000 students.

"But we hope we won't be handling 8000," Borolazzo remarked. He proceeded to explain why, and in so doing, brought out the countywide aspect of CSM.

The master plan calls not only for the new College Heights campus but for three more campuses in the north and the south part of the county.

One of these will be here in the North county on 110 acres of flat land at Skyline drive and Sharp Park road in Pacific Heights.

The college, with an astute eye to the future, bought this land in 1957 out of the proceeds of a bond issue. It cost the junior college district about $5000 an acre.

Today, Bortolazzo told the chamber, nearby homes on only quarter-acre sites are running as high as $32,000.

He described the Pacific Heights land as "beautiful" and noted the master plan calls for the opening of a campus for 1500 students there by 1967.

A campus for the south part of the county is planned in the Redwood City-Woodacre region and it, too, will be designed to accommodate 1500 students in 1967.

To complete the countywide picture, the fourth and final campus is in the works for Half Moon Bay. This campus, Bortolazzo, said, will serve the south coastside region and will be built sometime in the 1980s.

BEFORE ANY of these campuses become a reality, however, funds for their development must be provided. The College Heights facility was built largely from the bond issue approved by residents of the junior college district in 1957.

That's the way it will work again for the Pacific Heights and Redwood City campuses and if 1957 was any indication, the North county can be expected to back a new issue wholeheartedly.

Bortolazzo touched on this in his talk when he recalled that Pacifica was one of the top areas in carrying the 1957 bond issue.

The issue was approved countywide three to one by the voters but some areas in Pacifica voted as high as eight to one for it.

The CSM head told his listeners that transportation to the new College Heights campus would be provided from Pacifica by the college since public transportation facilities are lacking.

He praised Pacifica Mayor Harold Feyge (whom he called "Mr. Freeway") for his efforts in behalf of the Anza freeway, which will sweep by the new campus, giving it direct access to the major highways of the county.

BORTOLAO wound up his talk by dispelling another misconception some may have about CSM. And that is the "junior" in junior college district has nothing to do with the quality or content of the curriculum.

"It only means we're the lower level (the first years) of a collegiate education," he said. "Our courses are on a direct parallel with those in the state colleges and universities."

And while he didn't exactly say so, it was evident that Bortolazzo thought CSM's courses were not only on a parallel with the big boys but that they were better.

Which, after all, is what we want to hear from our junior college president.

Bortolazzo Tears Into Fund Vote

College of San Mateo President Julio Bortolazzo last week verbally exploded in reaction to the special legislative session's action on school funds.

"When the reprehensible game of political musical chairs ended in Sacramento, the junior colleges were left standing—as usual. But not the state colleges and the university. They had their customary seats, well cushioned with public funds," he said.

"Ever since the formulation of the master plan for higher education in California the junior colleges have been understandably skeptical.

"Here was a document that purported to make the junior colleges equal partners with the state colleges and the enrollment in this decade.

The junior colleges were assigned the responsibility for educating at least 50,000 additional lower division students by the 1970's, elevating the burden of the other two branches. But how was this to be done?

"Let's get the facts straight. Each year, the governor and the legislature have made mockery of the master plan. As far as the state is concerned, there is no equal partnership. The junior colleges were admitted to the higher-education club only on paper.

"We were assigned the duties without the dollars to do the job. Every action — or lack of it— points clearly that the governor and the legislature have found the fall guy, the local taxpayer, who is to assume more and more of the cost of higher education.

"San Mateo's situation shows how critical the situation has become. Ours is a basic aid district, one which has a "middle wealth" tax base, but simply because local efforts have brought in business and industry to provide this solid tax base, we are being penalized for our initiative.

"Since 1961, we have fought a losing battle to get increased state support. What has happened? The level of support has dropped to 25 per cent of operational costs, far below the 40 per cent which we must have and which we were promised. So who foots the bill? The local taxpayer.

Belt Bars Bad Injury

A two-year-old youngster was saved by a seat belt from possible serious injury last Wednesday morning when the auto in which she was riding and two other autos collided at Alemany and Skyline boulevards in Daly City.

The youngster, Jean Beering, of San Francisco, was taken to Mt. Zion hospital in San Francisco for treatment of head cuts.

Police cited the driver of one of the autos, Hazel D. Hart, 69, of San Francisco, for failure to yield the right of way while making a left turn. Driver of the other car was identified as Sture W. Anderson, 61, of San Francisco.

Tot Death Trial Slated

A court trial of Anthony McCoy, Daly City man charged with murding his two - year - old grandson, Robert Salas, June 14, has been scheduled for August 23.

Superior Judge Frank Rose will try the case.

Four psychiatrists appointed to examine the 72-year-old grandfather are split as to his sanity, according to Deputy District Attorney Wilbur Johnson.

RESUSCITATOR USED

Demonstration Is Offered at Beach

A number of swimmers of Pedro Beach along Highway 1 in Pacifica were "saved" Saturday.

The swimmers took part in a beach safety demonstration that featured the latest surf rescue and life-saving methods in use by the American Red Cross.

While regular beach visitors gaped volunteers pulled "drowning" swimmers out of the surf and demonstrated a number of life-saving techniques.

The program was sponsored by Red Cross safety services. It was assisted by the Pacifica fire department, the Mercy Ambulance Service of Daly City and other rescue groups.

The North Coast Surfers' club played a key role in the program —showing onlookers how their hobby can be used for life-saving techniques along ocean beaches.

Club members pointed out that surf rescue teams now patrol beaches in Hawaii and Australia.

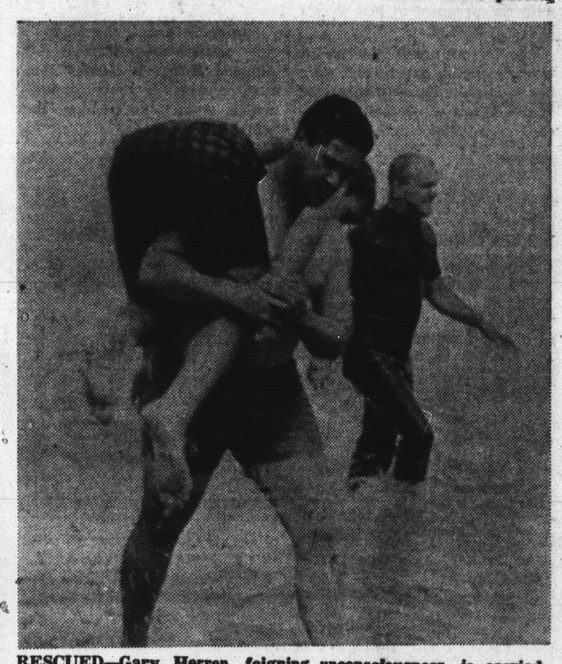
After the demonstrations, charts and literature were distributed, showing the most recently developed life saving and first aid techniques, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation that has saved many lives on coastal beaches during the past few years.

The method is taught in Red Cross first aid classes.

The demonstrations were a prelude to a special surf life-saving course that will be taught at Pedro Beach Saturday. It will feature a Red Cross senior life-saving course given in the ocean surf.

Those taking the course must be at least 16 years old or in the 11th and 12th grades in school.

Red Cross water safety instructor James Nuuhiwa, formerly of the Huinalu Surf club, will be the teacher.



RESCUED—Gary Herren, feigning unconsciousness, is carried from the ocean off Pedro beach in Pacifica by Frank Fisitas of the Coastside Surfers in a rescue demonstration. Herren then became the "victim" in a resuscitator demonstration. ....(Post-Times photo)

Town Hall Won't Sue on Zoning

Town Hall associatiation, the county's largest taxpayer organization decided last week on a co-operative study with the county on zoning procedures, rather than engage in a lengthy legal and initiative battle to challenge zoning laws.

The controversy between the county and the association arose over recent county action in granting "S-S" zoning to allow a 215-unit town house development on a nine-acre site between El Camino Real and the Southern Pacific railroad tracks in the unincorporated area between Menlo Park and Atherton.

For more than 2½ hours, association members debated at Redwood City whether to spend $50,000 in a two-to-three year effort to have the zoning declared illegal, and have tighter controls placed on the county through initiative procedure and possible charter amendments, or to accept the offer of the board of supervisors for the study.

James V. Fitzgerald, acting chairman of the board, came up with the proposal at last week's board session.

The county will declare a moratorium on any further town house zoning, but will allow the Menlo-Atherton project to proceed on a "pilot" basis for study by a citizens committee to be appointed by the board.

One of the reasons for the final decision of Town Hall to go along with the county proposal was the fact that no Felton Gable residents, nor Atherton officials, who had protested the town hall project before the county planning commission and the board of supervisors, appeared to offer their support to the Town Hall battle. Some 50 persons were present at the session.

James Tormey Jr., Town Hall's legal advisor, said the validity of the controversial "S-S" ordinance is "highly questionable."

As to battling it in court, however, he advised that without the support of those directly affected (Felton Gables) and without the unanimous support of the Town Hall association it would be virtually impossible to keep a suit in court.

Most of the 11 members of the Town Hall board of directors expressed themselves in favor of participating in the county-proposed study.

James Himmel, president of the association, termed the planned Hillpark Homes town house project "row houses" which would not carry their weight in taxes.

Pilot Lands on Pacifica Street

A Saratoga pilot had an appointment in Pacifica Thursday and saw no reason to fly all the way to the Half Moon Bay airport when a broad expanse of an extension of Terra Nova boulevard stood empty.

So he landed his small private plane there shortly after noon Pacifica police said Friday.

The straying pilot was Charles Schaper, 13153 Kevin street, Saratoga.

Schaper had an appointment with the contractor doing the grading for new residences near Terra Nova and Alicante boulevards. He was to circle the site and then fly on to Half Moon Bay where the contractor would pick him up.

But the well-graded area changed his mind.

"It just looked like a good place to land," Schaper said.

Federal Aviation authority officials said that was not sufficient reason to land on a street.

"To legally land there, it would have to be an emergency," Kent Davis, supervising agent for the General Aviation district of FAA at Oakland airport said.

Davis said the pilot would have to make a report to FAA within 10 days, explaining his reasons for making the landing. He said after the police report was received, his office sent a registered letter to Schaper.

Schaper took off again from the same spot at 2 p.m. Thursday. His business conference had been continuously interrupted by Pacifica police and telephone calls from FAA officials.

Colma Project Adopted

A resolution of intention to proceed with the $2,250,000 Colma creek flood control project was adopted last week by the county board of supervisors.

James V. Fitzgerald stepped down as acting chairman of the board in order to introduce the resolution initiating the project.

The program, in the works for several years, will be financed jointly by federal, state and local funds.

The federal government will pay $1,000,000, the state $1,050,000, and the assessment district of affected property owners the remaining $200,000.

Kappie's Salami Contest Produced Three Winners

KAPPIE'S salami contest is now history. But what happened to make it history will always be a happy memory to Kappie. To bring any new readers up to date: Kappie's Gold Rush held a salami weight guessing contest and the drawing was last Saturday. Three contestants guessed the exact weight of the salami (11 pounds, 3½ ounces). Result: Kappie had to "subdivide" the salami into three sections for the winners, who also received champagne, steak dinners. Over 350 entries were turned in. Many who were traveling through on vacation took entree blanks and mailed them from their home state—such as Georgia, New York, Florida, South Dakota and Mexico City. Winners were D. E. Hersam of San Rafael; William Eggleston, Menlo Park, and Sam Fiorica of Sacramento . . . When Rocca's restaurant co-owner, Louis Bacchini, was forced to spank his little son, Johnny, the boy broodingly announced: "When I grow up to be a daddy and you grown down to be a Johnny, I'm gonna spank you real hard." . . .Richfield Oil executives, headed by President Rollin Eckis, held a dinner-meeting at Lew Lehr's Marina steakhouse.

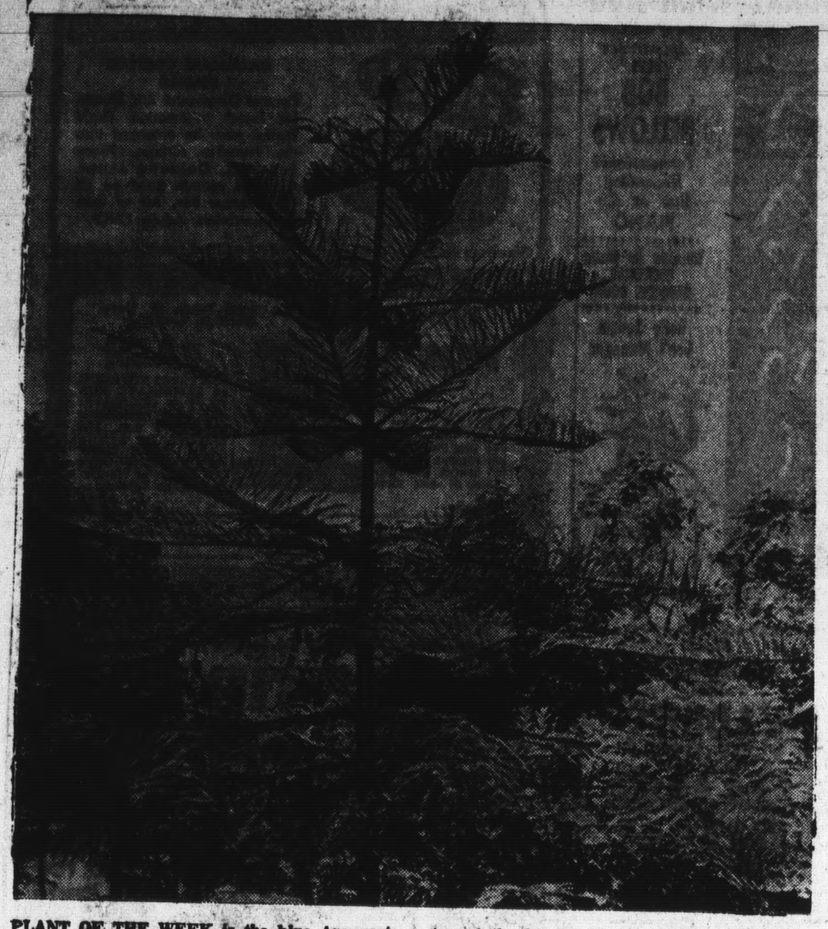
Plant of the Week



PLANT OF THE WEEK is the blue Araucaria Excelsia Glauca, popularly known as the "Blue Norfolk Island Pine." Readers will find it on top of the hill in the San Mateo park exhibit at the fiesta. Later it may be located in the "growing area" at Central park.

A blue "Norfolk Island Pine" (Araucaria excelsia glauca) is The Plant of the Week. This Araucaria was one of the top winners at this year's Floral Fiesta. It was located at the top of a flight of steps in the San Mateo Park display just south of the Fiesta's East Gate.

This Araucaria was given to the city four years ago by Chief Fire Inspector Cecil Morris. The tree had been planted too close to the chief's home. At this time it was only about four feet tall and easy to move. Stanley Pitcher, San Mateo city superintendent of parks placed the tree in a 24-inch box using a planting mixture consisting of four parts good Half Moon Bay top soil, one part each sand and leaf mold.

The tree was moved to the Central Park growing ground where it has remained until being taken to the Fiesta. Alan Hammer, park assistant, says it is very easy to grow. Its care has consisted of heavy watering and one feeding a year. The heavy watering has been two thorough soakings a week during rainless periods and watering when needed during the rainy months. Feeding was two "baby-food-cans" full of 11-8-4 fertilizer just before the spring growth began. Its average growth has been two-feet a year. It has not been repotted in the time the park has had it but will be moved into a three-foot box sometime after the Fiesta. It has never had any pests or disease. Hammer attributes some of its fine growth to its wind-free location and to the fact that it is partially shaded from the sun, although it does receive sun from about 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Araucarias (pronounced or-ro-cay'ri-a) get their name from Araucana an old name for the southern part of Chile where they were found. Four varieties are grown on the Peninsula, Araucaria bidwillii can be found in Central Park, San Mateo. This is a 70-foot high specimen that was planted way back when this land was a part of an estate. A 12-foot specimen of Araucaria imbricata is also growing in Central Park. Both of these trees will be easily recognized by their unusual branches. A bidwillii, known as the "Bunya-Bunya" tree ca nbe recognized by its drooping main branches. An imbricata, known as the "Monkey Puzzle" tree has rope - like branches arranged in tiers with side branches that twist and turn.

Two beautiful specimens of Araucaria excelsa were located on the Mills Estate before the rare plants of that estate were destroyed in the name of progress. A specimen of the fourth variety, Araucaria Cumminghamii is said to be in the garden at 105 Hayward avenue, San Mateo

Landscape Your Lanai

By IVA NEWMAN

If you are lucky enough to have a lanai room, a screened-in porch or covered, wind-protected area, you owe it to yourself to landscape it properly. So much more pleasure can be derived from these indoor-outdoor living areas when a few tropical plants are grown within their walls.

The first plants we think of when something green is wanted for a lanai are philodendrons. These large-leaved tropicals offer a wide selection of sizes and shapes for the indoor gardener to choose from. They thrive in areas where light is limited and are relatively immune to the caprices of inexperienced gardeners so far as watering and feeding are concerned.

A great deal of confusion exists over which philodendron is which, and even about which plants are philodendrons. Some members of the family are climbing, while others have small oval leaves only a few inches across. Three of the most popular and widely used, according to my friends in the Peninsula Chapter of the California Association of Nurserymen are:

Philodendron oxycardium, the common, small-leaf house trailer of a dozen uses. You can grow it in a small pot hung on a wall bracket, set it close to a window or arch and train it to frame the opening, or in a larger pot and train it up on a center support;

Philodendron bipinnatifidum, a relative newcomer in the family with large, deeply lobed leaves of striking character. This is a non-vining philodendron, suitable for growing in a large tub or planter;

Philodendron evansii, the "Evans philodendron," whose large, solid leaves with their wavy margins have made it a longtime favorite as a house plant in California. There are many others, but these will serve you well as a start. These philodendrons plus several other varieties are used in many of the indoor exhibits of this year's Fiesta. Here is a good place to see how a good-sized plant of your favorite variety will look and the amount of space it will need.

Give philodendrons a rich, coarse planting mixture and be sure to keep it moist. Over-watering will cause trouble, but with proper drainage you can seldom over-water.

Related to the philodendrons and grouped with them by most nurserymen, is the "Hurricane Plant," or Splitleaf Philodendron, a vining, large leaf tropical which will grace a lanai or entry hall. It should be planted in a large container and allowed to ramble up a center support. This is one of the most popular plants for such settings, and deservedly so, as everyone who owns one finds.

Another wonderful plant for lanais is the "Wax Plant" (Hoya Carnosa), a succulent vine with handsome green foliage and star-like white flowers that are heavenly fragrant. Both the foliage and the flower of this popular indoor vine have a waxy texture which gives the plant its common name. You'll enjoy its companionship, especially during its summer bloom. Give it a rich, coarse soil with plenty of leaf mold and a little sand. Give it enough water to keep the leaves from shriveling, but don't overdo it as this plant likes to be a bit on the dry side.

A plant which grows to tree size in some sheltered gardens, but which is very popular as a tubbed plant indoors, is the "Rubber Plant" (Ficus Elastica). A member of the fig family, it is highly popular with indoor gardeners, having elongated, shining green leaves a foot long. You can use it indoors until it overgrows its location, then plant it outdoors for further show.

HOMES & GARDENS

Store Bugs Ineffective

Farmers and city gardeners who hope to eliminate aphids with purchased lady beetles, the so-called "ladybug," are just fooling themselves, according to Dr. Kenneth S. Hagen, associate entomologist in biological control at the University of California's Berkeley Experiment station.

"Lady beetles are important natural enemies of aphids, scale insects, mealy bugs and spider mites, and they often spectacularly control these pests," says Doctor Hagen.

"There is little value, however, in releasing the common 'convergent' lady beetles collected from huge mountain colonies and kept in cold storage. When liberated during the spring the beetles promptly fly out of the fields and gardens. When released during the summer they do not feed or reproduce at a high rate."

Seek Fiesta Engineer

County Manager E. R. Stallings has been authorized by the board of supervisors to "explore the field" in seeking services of a structural engineer to appraise the cost of rehabilitating or replacing the Hall of Flowers at the county fair grounds in San Mateo.

The structure was ordered closed shortly before the opening of this year's fair and fiesta after structural flaws were discovered during an addition to the building.

Stallings said last week that he may have a recommendation for the board "in a couple of weeks."

The board bypassed a recommendation of Henry P. Tarratt, director of building construction for the county, that Ivan M. Nelidov, structural engineer who discovered the building flaw, be appointed to undertake the appraisal study. He would do the work at a cost of $2000 to $2500, Tarratt said.

Stallings recommended, however, that with a project of such importance the county should "explore the field" in seeking a structural engineer to do the study. He said that Nelidov will be considered along with others.

Letters From Our Readers

TO THE EDITOR: The July 31 edition of The Post provided Joe Bavaresco with a platform from which he launched one of the most ill-informed, unintelligent, and narrow-minded defenses of book burning I have ever had the extreme displeasure of reading.

Mr. Bavaresco's diatribe against the "Dictionary of American Slang" manifests the crassest sort of ignorance and know-nothingism. The fact that Mr. Bavaresco was shocked by the dictionary, which he claims he burned, gives testimony to his lack of maturity and judgment.

He stated that he tried to imagine who would write "this awful thing." Had he been able to overcome the evidently traumatic experience he suffered from reading portions of this book, he would have found that the dictionary was written by two eminent philologists whose reputation and motives are highly respected.

The dictionary represents a scholarly and scientific analysis of American slang. The language catalogued in this book will not suddenly disappear by burning or suppressing the dictionary, any more than disease would disappear by burning books on medical diagnosis.

The dictionary was not meant to be read as a novel. It is a reference work, and it can be found in almost any school, college, university, or library worth its distinction.

Mr. Bavaresco's claim that people read this book to obtain "cheap thrills" would be found insulting by a great many writers, scholars, and others who have found this book useful and informative.

To urge violence, boycotts, and book burning is to be an inane ignoramus who does not only misunderstand the meaning of a dictionary but who does not understand what the American tradition of free press and free inquiry is all about.

CAROLYN A. HAWLEY

TO THE EDITOR: I had thought of phoning in this "thank you" but decided to make it more official by writing.

We've just received our copy of The Post, and after eagerly glancing through to spot the article on Dad's birthday and retirement were delighted to locate the same — and a very nice placement too, I might add!

It will be a pleasure to place the article in his scrapbook and send copies to interested friends.

While associated with the Daly City library from 1948 through 1955, and as a former publicity chairman for Court St. Mary of the Catholic Daughters in Daly City, I have had numerous occasions for submitting articles to various local and San Francisco publications, so I most especially appreciate the promptness and courtesy extended my family regarding this article.

MRS. CARL ROLANDI
175 Wellington avenue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The article to which Mrs. Rolandi refers was a story on Lawrence DeFanti of 299 Wellington avenue, Daly City, published in the family life section of The Post August 7.)

TO THE EDITOR: I would like to take this opportunity to give a little public recognition to some of the people and organizations who so generously gave of their time and services to make our recent Little League Sectional Tournament the success it was:

To Joe Grasso, our tournament director; Lucky Eldred, our assistant tournament director; Nino Bisio, our vice president; Carl Vallero, our official scorekeeper; Doreen Fasano and Eva Morton and the Women's auxilliary, for all their fine help and co-operation.

To all the umpires who so competently worked the tournament games; to Bob Ward and those members of Little league who so generously gave of their time and effort to put the field in such fine shape for the tournament.

To the City council and all departments who co-operated so well with us; to the service clubs, merchants and private citizens, who so generously donated money, food and etc., to help defray the tournament expenses.

To all the generous people who housed or offered to house members of the visiting teams; to the press for its fine coverage of the tournament.

To all of these, and most especially to all the Little League members who helped make it possible to bring this tournament to Pacifica, my sincere thanks.

Hospital Benefactor

HELPING OUT — Millionaire philanthropist Walter Johnson of San Francisco presents Sister Hermine, administrator of Mary's Help hospita, his signed pledge card for $150,000 toward the $1.5 million campaign fund for the new Mary's Help hospital now under construction in Daly City. Federal Judge George B. Harris, chairman of the advisory board of Mary's Help hospital, left, looks on. The pledge presentation took place at the hospital site in the southern part of Daly City.

Mary's Help Given $150,000 Donation

The Mary's Help hospital building fund drive last week received a hefty boost from Bay Area industrialist Walter Johnson, who presented $150,000 to drive officials.

The contribution boosted the fund past the $600,000 mark. The goal is $1,500,000.

Total cost of the new hospital in Daly City is estimated at $8,500,000. Of this, $1,500,000 is being raised in a public campaig.n

Two years ago, Johnson gave $2-million toward the restoration of the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

In announcing his gift to the hospital drive, he observed:

"I have given generously to restore a famous but decaying work of art, dear to the heart of many San Franciscans.

"However, I think it is more laudable to give substantially to a vitally needed facility, Mary's Help hospital, which is designed to serve humanity in the saving of life and preservation of health for the whole community."

Johnson presented his check at the hospital construction site at Junipero Serra boulevard and Eastmoor avenue.

Present were: Judge George Harris, honorary chairman of the drive, and Sister Hermine of the Daughters of Chanity, St. Vincent de Paul Society, who will be the hospital administrator.

A Real Cool Orange Sherbert

On a dazzling midsummer day, what looks cooler or tastes more refreshing than orange sherbet—especially when it's home-made and rich in pure, natural orange flavor. And this delicious sherbet, with its old-fashioned richness, is simple to make.

The convenient six-ounce can of frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, undiluted, gives tart-sweet flavor and fresh color to the sherbet, while whipped cream makes it wonderfully smooth and creamy. When it's firm, scoop it into your nicest sherbet glasses and garnish with fresh mint and chilled or canned Florida orange sections for a pretty, extra cool touch.

Florida Orange Sherbet

¾ cup milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar, divided
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 can (6 ounces) frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
⅛ teaspoon salt

Combine milk, eggs and ¼ cup of sugar in top of double boiler over hot water. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats spoon. Cool. Mix in remaining ¼ cup sugar, orange juice concentrate and salt. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze until ice crystals form around edges. Remove from freezer and fold in whipped cream. Return to freezer until firm, at least 3 hours or overnight. YIELD: 1 quart.

A Summer Casserole

Summer living is easy and so is casserole cooking, especially when it is done with convenience foods. Even shopping is simpler when you buy the large size cans that serve four generously and six adequately.

For instance, a 40-ounce can of spaghetti and meat balls is ready to be just spooned into a casserole for baking. Give it a summer-time lift with eggplant slices, coated with parmesan cheese, and browned appealingly before being shrdlu shrdl shrdl shrdl shrdluuup added. Bake it all together for a simple and delicious family supper dish.

A bright green salad, crunchy and cool, and thin crisp bread sticks make fine accompaniments for this dish.

Spaghetti-Meat Ball-Eggplant Casserole

1 medium eggplant
4 tablespoons parmesan cheese
5 tablespoons cooking oil
1 (40 oz.) can spaghetti and meat balls

Set oven 375 degrees F.

Wash eggplant. Cut into about ¼-inch slices. Coat eggplant slices with about 2 tablespoons of the cheese. Heat oil. Lightly brown eggplant slices. Drain on paper toweling. Cut in half.

Place spaghetti and meat balls in medium-sized baking dish. Place eggplant slices, skin side up, into the spaghetti and meat balls. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese. Bake 20-25 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Coffee Parfait, Perfect Coffee

The French have a perfect word for "perfect." It's "parfait" of course—a cool dessert that is indeed perfection.

The original parfait was Cafe Parfait and here is a variation on that theme—Coffee Tapioca Parfait. Layers of sweet tapioca mixture alternate with whipped cream and chocolate syrup in slim glasses. Of course, you'll want to complement its mellow flavor with the hot, freshly-brewed coffee you serve with it. Just be sure the coffee is "perfect," too!

Coffee Tapioca Parfait

1 egg, separated
5 tablespoons sugar, divided
2 cups coffee beverage
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Chocolate syrup
Chopped walnuts

Beat egg white until foamy. Add 2 tblsp. sugar, singly, beating until mixture forms soft peaks. Set aside. Combine egg yolk with ¼ cup coffee in saucepan. Add tapioca, salt, remaining coffee and sugar. Stir over medium heat until mixture comes to full boil (5 to 8 minutes). Remove from heat, pour small amount on egg white mixture and blend well. Quickly stir in remaining tapioca mixture. Add vanilla. Cool; stir once after 15 minutes. Chill. Spoon alternate layers of tapioca mixture, whipped cream and chocolate syrup into parfait glasses. Top with whipped cream and chopped walnuts. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Purple Plums In a New Pie

Of all the good things to be made with Idaho's fresh purple plums, Pie is undoubtedly the favorite, especially with men. Two-crust, deep-dish, open-face—all are good. Of the counter-paned variety, this pie is the best by way of "plum good eating"! Use fresh purple plums now, easy-to-do home-frozen fruit later on.

- 4 cups Idaho fresh purple plums, cut
- ½ cup coarsley-chopped walnuts
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
- 3 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 tablespoon fine dry bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons butter

pastry for 9-inch double-crust pie

Cut halved, seeded purple plums once crosswise. Mix together sugar, grated rinds, spices, flour. Lightly stir into plums and walnuts. Sprinkle crumbs over bottom of pastry-lined 9-inch pie dish, then fill with plum mixture. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust. Seal edges, building up a good rim. This is a juicy fruit as it cooks. It is well to use pie tape or strips of aluminum foil around the edge of the dish to prevent juice from boiling over.

Bake in a preheated hot oven (425 degrees F) for about 50 minutes. Take from oven, remove pie tape or foil strips. Best served warm with slightly sweetened whipped cream, ice cream, hard sauce, whipped cream cheese or—best yet!—a thick slice of a nippy Cheddar cheese. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Note: why not make up a pie or three to freeze now and enjoy after the all-too-short season of purple plums has gone. Freeze unbaked. To use, remove wrappings. Make slits in top crust. Bake as above. The pie need not be thawed.

Tarragon Butter

This tarragon butter will give a new accent to cooked artichokes, broccoli and asparagus. Try it, too, on seafood. Incidentally, the tarragon flavor, mostly associated with vinegar, goes well with most egg dishes.

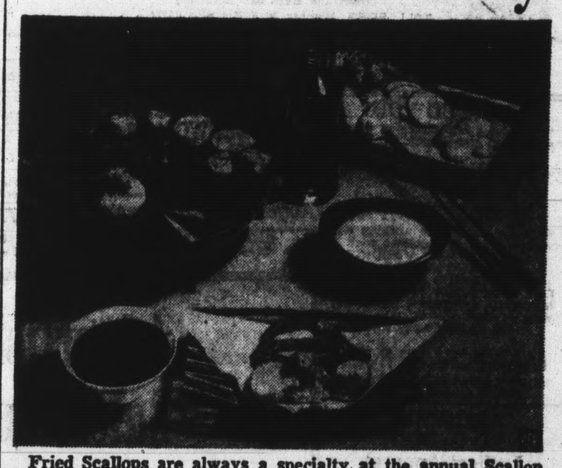
TARRAGON BUTTER

- ½ cup of butter
- ½ teaspoon of lemon peel
- 1 teaspoon of Beau Monde Seasoning
- ¼ teaspoon of onion powder
- 1 tablespoon of tarragon, crushed
- ⅛ teaspoon of cayenne pepper

Melt butter, add lemon peel, Beau Monde, onion powder, tarragon vinegar and tarragon. Stir well and let stand 15 to 20 minutes. Just before serving, heat but do not let butter brown. Add cayenne. Serve on vegetables or seafood.

Marinate pitted dates, dried figs or prunes in a tangy French dressing. Drain and stuff centers with any new cheese flavor. Use as a tempting addition to fruit salad plates, Waldorf or cole slaw salads; as a delicious garnish for sandwich or cold meat platters.

Fried Scallops Oriental Way



Fried Scallops are always a specialty at the annual Scallop Festival held each year at New Bedford, Massachusetts. Here the Scallops are given an oriental touch—batter dipped and fried with a variety of vegetables.

Scallop Tempura

- 1½ pounds sea scallops, fresh or frozen
- 1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
- ½ pound string beans
- 1 small head cauliflower
- 2 or 3 summer squash
- 2 or 3 zuchinni
- Flour, for dusting
- Tempura batter, for dipping
- Mazola oil, for frying

Thaw scallops and shrimp if frozen. Remove shell particles from scallops; wash and drain. Remove shells and devein shrimp. Separate cauliflower into flowerets. Slice summer squash and zuchinni. Dust scallops and shrimp lightly with flour. Pour corn oil into fry pan or sturdy flat bottomed kettle, filling utensil ⅓ full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F. or until a 1-inch cube of bread browns in about 40 seconds. Dip vegetables and prepared scallops and shrimp into Tempura Batter and place in hot fat. Fry food, turning as needed, until tender, 1 to 2 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tempura Batter: Sift ¾ cup flour and ¼ cup corn starch together into bowl. Stir in 1 cup water and 1 egg. Beat with rotary beater or wire whisk until smooth and frothy.
